GARNER AND ROOSEVELT

President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Vice President John Nance Garner had a bit of fun Jan. 8, 1940, at a Jackson Day dinner in Washington. At the time, "Cactus Jack" Garner was a presidential hopeful, but he later split with Roosevelt over Roosevelt's seeking a third term. Garner died Tuesday at 98. (Story on Page 21).

Treasurer Hunts Same Deer Twice

By BILL KETTER
United Press International

"Yes and no!"

That was the reply Tuesday of State Treasurer Wayne R. Swanson when asked if he bagged a deer on a weekend hunting trip to the Sandhills.

Swanson explained he shot a 300-pound buck north of Ainsworth last Thursday but when he returned Saturday to remove it from the bottom of a steep slope, the animal was missing.

State Game Commission and Brown County authorities were promptly notified. A search found the animal in the possession of another hunting party, Swanson said.

Tags Switched

"The tags had been switched but it was my deer all right. I could tell that for certain," the treasurer said.

Deputy Brown County Atty. Marvin Weems of Ainsworth confirmed the deer belonged to Swanson. He said a petty larceny charge will be filed later this week against one of the individuals involved in the theft.

"Other charges may also be submitted after the investigation is completed," Weems said.

Assistant State Game Commission Director Willard Barbee said the case presented a law enforcement dilemma for the area game warden.

Had A Permit

He said the individuals involved could not be charged with violating state game laws because they had a permit to possess a deer.

"Our hands were more or less tied on this whole thing. We couldn't do anything but bring the case to the attention of the county attorney," Barbee said.

Barbee said the commission had tried to get the last Legislature to authorize game wardens to enforce criminal laws in such instances but that the proposal was rejected.

"Some senators thought we were trying to expand our authority but all we wanted to do was to make it easier for everyone in a situation such as what happened to Treasurer Swanson," Barbee said.

Lower Output In 1968 Cards

. . . GOAL TO HELP FARMER

Washington (AP) — Higher election year food prices appear in the offing as American agriculture puts finishing touches on a 1968 production pattern designed to hold supplies below this year's record levels.

Reductions are planned not only in crops but in livestock as well. They would come at a time when world hunger is a rising problem. At best, there is little chance that production would keep pace with the population increase.

More For Farmer

The goal of farm planning for next year is to bring increases in farm prices. These in turn would be expected to result in higher retail prices.

These plans are an outgrowth of economic setbacks in agriculture this year, including lower prices, lower farm income and higher costs.

Farm prices have been running 6% below last year and farm income will turn out between 5 and 10% below 1966.

Farm officials declare the planned production curbs would not lessen this country's ability to provide food aid abroad. They say that's because of this year's record U.S. production — together with generally good crops abroad.

Feed Grains

Some of the planned cutback is being recommended by the Agriculture Department under its supply stabilization programs. These include smaller crops of wheat, corn, sorghum and other feed grains, the raw materials for bread and for meats, milk and poultry products.

Other reductions are contemplated on a number of products not subject to federal controls. These include eggs, turkeys, milk and possibly beef cattle and hogs.

In the case of price-depressed eggs, the department will help poultry men by offering to buy some of their laying hens which would be diverted to chicken meat for welfare use.

The department also is cautioning farmers against increasing hog production lest prices of pork be depressed to unprofitable levels.

Likewise, leaders of the beef cattle industry are urging feeders to resist any inclination to increase production of fed cattle for slaughter.

Sheep raising will continue to decline next year and this means less lamb and mutton.

The number of dairy cows is expected to continue a long decline with the production of milk falling slightly below this year's level, which was smaller than last year's.

Winter Vegetables

In another move to bolster prices, the department is recommending against any increase in the production of winter vegetables. A 5% decrease in winter potatoes has been recommended.

While not closely associated with individual or government control, fruits are likely to help push up food prices. Production of citrus as well as noncitrus fruits is down from last year's volume, largely because of adverse weather.

There is a possibility that crops of soybeans, now the major source of vegetable oil for food purposes and for protein meal for supplementary livestock feed, may halt a long upturn. Lower prices and declining export markets may discourage some farmers from growing this crop next year.

Soil Conservation Award Presented To Journal-Star

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

The state Soil Conservation Society of America Council Award was presented to the Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star Tuesday evening for eminent contributions in the furtherance of resource conservation.

The Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star was cited for outstanding journalism and promoting and financing statewide awards programs in wildlife, small watersheds and honor farm families.

Individual awards were presented by the SCSA Lincoln Chapter to Peter Hensen, John Putman, Robert Zink, Arnold Heerwagen, Md-Donald Atkins, all of Lincoln; John Neuberger, Omaha, and Millis R. Melstrom of Hiattville, Maryland.

Conservationists and plant scientists from 14 states were guests at the awards meeting on the College of Agriculture and Home Economics East Campus.

Featured speaker Dr. Howard Ottoson, director of Agricultural Experiment Stations, speaikng of rural urbanization said transportation has revolutionized the farm community.

He said that based on a one-hour driving time in 1910 at six miles per hour found a community of 900 people in 72 square miles. This same driving time at 40 miles an hour in 1966 results in serving 26,000 people in 3200 square miles.

Dr. Ottoson said rural area contributions to the general economy have been overlooked with the cost of rearing a youngster in the country estimated to cost the community $20,000 to raise a youth to 18 years of age.

In a rural community of 4,000 where the senior class is of 100 pupils and with studies showing that half of the class will leave the community this means this size rural community is exporting a $1 million resource annually, said Dr. Ottoson.

He estimated that about $5 billion each year is being transferred from rural to urban areas by this method annually in the United States.

Dr. Ottoson said studies showed that farms will need to be 60% larger in 1980 than they were in 1960 to meet medium income standards.

He said migration from farm to city does not occur in "Tobacco Road" fashion or they do not flee as water runs downhill, but generally the transition from country to city comes through young people taking a nonfarm job after completing their education.

Ottoson said studies show that many of our small rural towns are technically obsolete and that as small towns continue to decline and disappear other towns in the 10,000 to 15,000 population class will become farm cities and will continue to grow.

He said this is the economic area concept that visualizes a central place (farm-city) with the surrounding area a logical center for industrial and governmental development.

Dr. Ottoson noted work done on cost of county government has shown a county must have 30,000 population, a $40 million valuation and 4,000 square miles to balance costs of county government.

Only six Nebraska counties meet this criteria in all respects, 15 counties meet one requirement and 72 counties are deficient in all requirements, Dr. Ottoson noted.

Housing Code Vote Fight Hot

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of four articles on subjects to be voted upon at the Nov. 14 city election.)

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Passage by the City Council last May of the minimum housing standards code and the resulting successful petition drive bringing the code to a referendum vote next Tuesday has created a pro and con fight among the Lincoln electorate possibly not seen since the losing battle to create an urban renewal authority.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf and the City Council have backed the code full tilt. The job of explaining the code to the people has been the mayor's greatest challenge since assuming office seven days after the council approved the ordinance.

The code has been endorsed by numerous business, labor, church and community action organizations.

A less impressive number of organizations have openly opposed the code. However the Lincoln Taxpayers and Homeowners League gathered over 6,000 signatures on petitions calling for the referendum vote, when less than 4,000 were needed.

Broad Battle

Both sides have carried the fight to neighborhood meetings, church groups and service clubs. Proponents and opponents have done battle through the news media and have distributed campaign literature.

City government, through its elected officials, maintains that the singular objective of the minimum housing standards ordinance is to serve as a useful tool in maintaining good housing in Lincoln.

The city's position is that the code will protect Lincolnites from:

—Depreciation of the value of their homes by deterioration near them.

—Expenditure of public funds for social programs made necessary by poor housing.

—Hardships on renters caused by those who rent out dwellings which are not safe and healthy.

—Continuing decline in some housing, causing it to be a burden on those citizens who spend money and energy in maintaining their property in good condition.

In addition, those who favor it argue that passage of the code will allow the city to obtain federal housing assistance funds that would be lost if Lincoln doesn't have a minimum housing standards code that is acceptable to the federal government.

Lacks Teeth

They maintain that the city's present code, passed in 1956, and other city ordinances do not contain sufficient teeth to protect against the encroachment of blight and slum areas.

The proponents point out that the 1956 code does not apply to dwellings constructed prior to that date.

A city legal department opinion states that "the limited enforceability and the severely conditioned extent of jurisdiction authorizing city involvement in substandard housing under these (existing) ordinances must be clearly understood before the true significance and need for the proposed housing code can be fully appreciated.

The opposition, on the other hand, believes that the minimum housing standards code violates individual rights.

To attorney Lawrence Murphy, an unpaid volunteer for the homeowners and taxpayers league, the code is an example of a political fact of life—"that good men can pass bad laws".

'Individual Rights'

"This is about individual rights," Murphy said. "The right of privacy in your own home; the right to live in your own home and not be forced to move out and the right to peaceful enjoyment, possession and use of your own home without governmental interference."

"The housing code is a grant of interference in and a restriction of those rights."

He described the homeowners and taxpayers league as "not a tightly-knit group which has banded together on any other issue."

Murphy and Dewitt Wewee, a league official, said the organization doesn't have an official membership list, but that over 200 people have actively worked in opposition to the code. Speakers for the league address groups three to four times a week, they said.

'Lose Local Control'

The opponents said that by passing the housing code, the City Council "is trying to give up local control to Washington, D.C.", because the Department of Housing and Urban Developments dictates the requirements of a Workable Program—one requirement is an acceptable minimum housing standards code —with which the city must comply in order to quality for federal aid programs.

They also point out that the housing code can be amended. "People should keep in the back of their minds that if the code passes, this is not the end of it," Murphy said.

The league also argues in opposition that the code empowers the city to "force repair and relocation even if you can't afford expensive repairs", to "discriminate against enforcement by arbitrarily choosing certain neighborhoods while leaving others alone" and to "increase your taxes while decreasing your investment."

Tomorow: Provision of the code.)

School Desegregation Foe, Mrs. Hicks, Loses In Boston

Boston (AP) — Massachusetts Secretary of State Kevin H. White, who said his campaign was aimed at barring "hate and bigotry" from Boston, Tuesday night won election as mayor of Boston, defeating the controversial Mrs. Louise Day Hicks, the foe of proposed desegregation plans for schools with nearly total Negro enrollments.

The unoffieial vote from all 275 precincts, including absentee ballots, gave White 102,551 votes and 90,122 for Mrs. Hicks.

The campaign centered on racial imbalance in public schools. An undercurrent of white backlash was fanned by rioting in Boston's predominantly Negro district of Roxbury last summer.

Mrs. Hicks, a member of the School Committee, opposed busing Negro students to achieve racial balance in schools.

Her campaign slogan was "you know where I stand."

"No man or woman is going to tear this city apart with hate or bigotry or false promises," said White.

Both mayoralty candidates are Democrats; voting is nonpartisan.

Gary Negro Is Narrow Victor

Gary, Ind. (AP) — Democrat Richard G. Hatcher, a Negro, won a cliffhanger of a race for mayor of this steel-making center Tuesday night, according to unofficial returns.

Returns from 129 of 132 precincts showed Hatcher out front with 38,441, to 37,204 for Republican Joseph Radigan.

Two of the three remaining precincts were in predominantly Negro neighborhoods.

Throughout the almost four hours of counting, it was evident that the voting followed strict color lines.

Cleveland Voting Closest In Years

Cleveland (AP) — Republican Seth C. Taft held a steady but inconclusive lead Tuesday over Negro Democrat Carl B. Stokes in Cleveland's closest mayoral battle in a generation.

Taft took a big lead early, then saw it dwindle before he moved ahead once more in his fight to become Cleveland's first Republican mayor in 26 years.

Stokes counted on late returns from Negro wards to make him the first Negro mayor of a major city. Even so, the odds began to grow against him as the vote count piled in from both Negro and white areas.

Many normally Democratic white areas went heavily for Republican Taft.

Mississippi Tabs Rebel Williams For Governor

Jackson, Miss. (AP) — Democratic Rep. John Bell Williams, stripped of his congressional seniority for bolting the party's 1964 presidential ticket, swept to a one-sided victory over Republican Rubel L. Phillips Tuesday night in Mississippi's general election for governor.

The 47-year-old Williams, who spent two decades in Congress opposing liberal trends in the Democratic ranks, made his congressional martyrdom the keystone of his campaign in a lackluster race.

Frisco Voters Nix Ceasefire

San Francisco (AP) — A peace proposition urging an immediate ceasefire and withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam appeared headed for convincing defeat Tuesday night in a San Francisco municipal election poll.

The San Francisco initiative ballot question was the first testing of public opinion on the war in a major U.S. city.

The count from 250 of 1,341 precincts gave 25,305 against withdrawal and 13,670 for a ceasefire.

Expansion Of Foreign Language Program Urged By PTA Group

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

In a letter to Lincoln School Supt. Dr. Steven Watkins, the PTA Citizens Advisory Committee on Schools has called for a four-year foreign language program starting in all ninth grades, regardless of enrollment.

The letter, signed by committee chairman Harvey L. Gunderson, said that dropping foreign language classes in various junior highs after some students had already started a language program amounted to a "breach of confidence to the students."

"Actions such as this do little to increase or even maintain confidence in the school administration," it was stated.

However, Asst. Supt. Dr. R. L. Frestrom said he replied to the PTA group that where enrollment would justify classes, the "courses materialized" in the junior highs.

Should Have 20

"We generally feel that we should have 20 students for a foreign language class, but the point has been stretched quite a bit in order to make foreign language available," he told the Star. There are some classes conducted for as few as 12 students, he pointed out.

The advisory committee charged in its letter that "it seemed that two programs, the elementary program and the complete junior high program, were either discontinued or dropped.

"The concern of the committee was for those children who had enrolled in programs with the assurance, or the implication that the program would continue."

'Not Dropped'

Contending that the charge is untrue, Fredstrom declared "the junior high program has not been completely dropped," and the elementary program was discontinued "because the telecasts were dropped."

In previous years fifth and sixth graders could take a French class before school that was presented on educational television. Less than a half dozen schools of the 200 Nebraska Council on ETV members were interested in French on the elementary level, it was noted.

Nineteen foreign language classes are being conducted this semester in five junior highs in addition to the ninth graders at East which take courses with the senior high students. Only Whittier and Dawes have no foreign language this semester, according to Fredstrom.

The advisory committee's letter cited the example of Dawes Junior High in which 28 seventh graders were enrolled in French last year but no French is being taught this year at any grade level.

Fredstrom pointed out that the seventh grade class at Dawes ended the year with 24 students, and that only nine of those students registered for French this semester.

No class was offered, but the students were "given the understanding they could pick up their French again in grade nine." However, he admitted, justification for the class next year also will be made on enrollment.

'Regardless'

The PTA group emphasized its endorsement of a foreign language program in grades nine through 12, including French, Spanish, and German, "regardless of enrollment."

A suggestion that if the program were to be expanded it should expand downward only one grade at a time as demand developed also was supported, according to the letter.

"It is felt that the time for an experimental — hit or miss — foreign language program is over, and that the time for a developmental foreign language program, upon which the entire community can count, is begun and above all continued."

The committee has had three consecutive meetings on foreign language programs with Robert McArdle of the University of Nebraska, Mrs. Elizabeth Grone, Lincoln foreign language coordinator, and Mrs. Diane Brewer, language coordinator for Westside schools.

3-War Hero Killed

Saigon (AP)—Fighting flared Tuesday on three scattered fronts of South Vietnam in fresh action that could signal the start of new dry season offensives by Communist troops.

A U.S. Army hero of three wars, Lt. Col. Arthur D. Stigall, was killed in one of the actions.

In the air war, U.S. planes swept to within 21 miles of Red China's border on the deepest penetration into the North in two weeks. Other planes raided an apparent new target near Haiphong.

Village Seized

Latest battlefield reports said U.S. Marines, charging through a fog of tear gas, seized a fortified village from North Vietnamese regulars after a furious 24-hour fight that cost the Marines 22 dead and 58 wounded in the battle 27 miles south of Da Nang.

The Marines reported killing 36 from the North Vietnamese 2nd Division, one of five Communist divisions in South Vietnam poised for possible new offensives.

New fighting also flared Tuesday near the district headquarters town of Loc Minh, where fierce battles raged last week, and in the central highlands. Latest reports placed the total American casualties from these two fights Tuesday at 28 dead, including Stigall, a 1st Infantry Division battalion commander, and 55 wounded. U.S. headquarters said 78 Communist troops were killed in the two battles, 66 of them around Loc Ninh.

World War II, Korea

Stigall, who held decorations for action in World War II, the Korean War and Vietnam, is survived by his widow and a 14-year-old daughter in Columbus, Ga.

Headquarters said two companies from the 1st Brigade of the 1st Division made contact just after noon Tuesday with a Viet Cong force believed to be elements of a battalion from the 272nd Regiment.

The fighting took place six miles east-northeast of Loc Ninh.

Dak To

In the central highlands near Dak To, 300 miles northeast of Saigon, two companies from the U.S. 4th Infantry Division reported killing 12 North Vietnamese troops in another of a series of running skirmishes that began last Friday.

The U.S. troops suffered 10 dead and 35 wounded.

Headquarters reported that units of the 4th Division and the 173rd Airborne Brigade operating in the area have killed a total of 116 North Vietnamese troops since last Friday and captured 80 weapons, 210 hand grenades and a quantity of ammunition.

Public Broadcast Act Said Crucial Forward Step

© New York Times Service

By JACK GOULD

New York—President Johnson's signing Tuesday of the bill creating the Corp. for Public Broadcasting is a crucial forward step in the evolution of television and radio.

The skill with which the President and his aide, Douglass Cater, steered the measure through a sympathetic Senate and a more skeptical House is a testament to their political knowhow in recognizing that maximum progress sometimes can be best achieved by limited steps.

The President has implanted the fundamental idea of an expanded noncommercial TV service without immediately attempting to resolve all the enormous complications inherent in the venture.

For the moment, the President has gone about as far as he can in championing educational TV. The burden of advancing a generalized concept necessarily now must rest with the full board of directors of the corporation itself and more particularly in greater cooperation among the varying elements in the medium, the individual noncommercial stations, National Television and the Public Educational Television and the Public Broadcast Laboratory. Constructive teamwork, not enervating rivalry, is now the President's deserved reward.

Obstacles confronting the corporation are indeed formidable. Even the inital seed money of $9 million must still be authorized by the House Appropriations Committee, some members of which are frankly apprehensive over an indirect governmental subsidy for the dissemination of news and controversy.

And the initial measure does not even address itself to what will be the most formidable congressional debate: How to raise the $200 million to $300 million that will be required annually for a long-range viable noncommercial TV service. The President has promised to make further recommendations on that score in another year.

It is of particular interest that Johnson chose to stress the potential of a noncommercial system in transcending the mere relay of programs into the home. Through the magic of electronics it lies within the capability of today's communications to establish the worldwide "knowledge bank" that he deemed so exciting for the classroom of tomorrow.

By fusing together the instantaneous communications satellites and computer installations it is altogether feasible for the student in even the most remote hamlet to press a button and in a matter of seconds be advised of availability of reference material in libraries and colleges in the four corners of the globe.

To cut through the deluge of information that is almost devouring the globe could be one of the most helpful aids to improved scholarship that man has known. The social impact of explosive technology cries out for the type of recognition and emphasis that the President wisely provided.

Slim On Research Money

The bill for the Corp. for Public Broadcasting is frankly very skimply in its allocation of funds for fuller research into how electronics can play a bigger role in instructional TV as opposed to broad cultural broadcasting for the general public.

At Tuesday's ceremony Johnson named Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president emeritus of Johns Hopkins University, and Dr. James M. Killian Jr., chairman of the corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, as two nominees for the corporation's board.

But the crucial appointment will come much later, probably not until next year, with the selection of a paid president to run the shop day by day.

Insulation Task

Insulation of the corporation from economic and political influences of Congress will not be easy. The stature and strength of the corporation will be vital in this respect.

And some method of sustained financing other than the annual appropriation procedure, which gives an aggrieved congressman the opportunity to challenge specific programs of a previous year, must be worked out.

The United States is not overly familiar in the cultural area with the structure of an independent operation functioning under a loose governmental charter but that day surely must come.

Thursday Launch Likely For Saturn

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — Technicians preparing the Saturn 4 super-rocket for its maiden flight fell two hours behind schedule Tuesday, but the space agency said a Thursday morning launch remained likely.

As the count clicked down toward minus one day, workmen readied an Apollo spacecraft, much like the one that will carry astronauts on the moon trip, for its ride atop the biggest thing ever built to fly.

The launch team hoped to reclaim the two lost hours during overnight loading of the supercold gases which run the Apollo craft's fuel cell electrical system.

Tuesday's late weather forecast called for no let-up by Thursday in the winds that have buffeted the cape area all week, but the stiff breeze and rough seas are not expected to hamper the launch.

Job Drop 'Disappointing'

World News

Washington (AP) — The nation's economy experienced a "disappointing" job slump in October to the highest unemployment rate in two years, the government said Tuesday.

The 4.3% jobless rate reflected the sharpest two-month rise in seven years and indicated the number of Americans out of work totaled 500,000 more than there were a year earlier, the Labor Department said.

While total employment increased slightly to 75.1 million, the rate of growth was slower and millions of employes were working shorter hours, the report said.

Disappointment

"Certainly disappointing," was the way Labor Statistics Commissioner Arthur M. Ross summed it up.

But Ross declined to predict whether a worse economic slowdown appeared in the making and ducked questions as to whether the new figures bolstered President Johnson's argument for a 10% income tax surcharge.

The total number of unemployed rose 56,000 to 2.95 million in October and was some 400,000 above the expected level for the month. The bureau adjusts the jobless figures in line with usual seasonal expectations.

Rates Of Rise

Jobless rates for men rose from 2.3% to 2.5% and for teen-agers from 13.8% to 15.1%. The rate for women dropped from 4.9% to 4.8%.

The over-all rate for white workers rose from 3.6 to 3.8%, and the rate for nonwhites—mostly Negroes — went up from 7.9 to 8.8%.

. . . Taxpayers Suit Dismissed

McCook (AP) — Dist Judge S. S. Sidner of Kearney Tuesday upheld a 1965 Nebraska law under which the Mid-Plains Area Vocational Technical School at North Platte was established.

Sidner, in handing down the ruling, dismissed a challenge of the school that was brought by five McCook taxpayers, who contended the act was unconstitutional.

The North Platte trade school has been the subject of controversy since its establishment on the strength of a 10-county vote in the November, 1966, election.

Steve Berry, attorney for the five McCook residents, said no decision had been made on whether the ruling would be appealed to the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The ultimate outcome of the case, if appealed, could have an important effect on other area trade schools in Nebraska, such as one at Hastings and one being formed at Norfolk.

Flaw Corrected

Judge Sidner said there was a constitutional flaw in the original 1965 legislation, but that it was corrected by state lawmakers during this year's session.

The flaw, he said, was in the method of replacing the original appointee directors of the Mid-Plains schools with elected directors.

Judge Sidner said the legislation which corrected this flaw, LB346 of the 1967 session, was passed with the emergency clause and went into effect June 14, when it was signed by the governor. This would have been before the Mid-Plains tax levy of one mill was certified.

The Kearney judge took over the case after Dist. Judge Victor Westermark of McCook disqualified himself because of intense local interest in the law suit.

When the Mid-Plains school was established, Red Willow and Dundy counties voted against the proposal, but it was approved by the total vote in the 10 counties.

Petition drives are being planned to withdraw certain counties from the school's taxing district. If the petition campaign is successful, a majority vote in the entire 10-county area would be required to allow withdrawal.

Wilber Staging Own Mardi Gras Ball

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Wilber—Its past included chautauquas and church bazaars, Bohemian operas and medicine shows, all-night dances and side-splitting "womanless weddings" — never before a Mardi Gras ball.

Closing its glamourous career 25 years ago to become lowly elevator storage, Wilber's 1892 "Opera House and Saloon" will come alive again this Saturday. But only for one special night.

"This old building is such an attraction in itself that we hope to raise $1,000 through it," said Mrs. John Dzuris, president of the sponsoring Wilber Woman's Club. "Since the purpose is to help send our high school band to the Mardi Gras in February, we decided to have our own masquerade here in November."

Although only three of their 36 members have youngsters in the band, the ladies are making an all-out effort: ticket sales in other towns, a king-size cleanup of the old hall, extensive decorating. The Opera House is owned by the Farmers Elevator of which Mrs. Dzuris' husband is manager, so he "volunteered" to move 22 tons of bagged ammonium fertilizer off the dance floor.

"A surprising number of older people are enthusiastic about coming, for the Opera House holds many memories of their youth," said Mrs. James Novotny. "Some of them tell about squeezing 50 dozen lemons for lemonade, others recall a murder in the building about 1900. This was indeed the center of old Wilber."

Undoubtedly it was the same building mentioned by Willa Cather in "My Antonia." The book speaks of a "Bohunk crowd" and "many pretty girls" in "the big dance hall behind the saloon."

Nebraska News

With some $2,600 raised through such projects as duck dinners and kolache sales, director Duane Jorgensen is still far from the band's $4,500 goal. General sponsors for the New Orleans appearance are the Wilber-Clatonia Band Mothers, and the Nebraska Czechs of Wilber.

Appropriate to the old Opera House's bouncing past, polka bands will supply music for the masquerade. Norman Blaha's "Royal Czechs" will play for the Nov. 11 dance itself, Frank Kunc's oldtimers providing intermission entertainment.

Indianapolis Symphony 'Lives Up To Its Billing'

By RUTH ARDIS

The Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, paying its first visit to Lincoln, demonstrated to a large audience at Pershing Auditorium Tuesday night why it is considered one of the top ten orchestras in the nation.

Under the direction of Izler Solomon, the group performed with exuberant vitality and well-disciplined flexibility. It was evident throughout the concert that a warm rapport exists between the members of the orchestra and their musical director.

The orchestra boasts a particularly fine string section which showed to best advantage in the Concerto for Orchestra in D Major by C.P.E. Bach, transcribed by Steinberg. Each section of the small ensemble brought out the contrapuntal lines of the melody with precision and clarity. Contrasts between strings and woodwinds in the first movement were especially effective.

Expressiveness

The younger Bach's Concerto harks back to the style of his illustrious father but also foreshadows, especially in the second movement, a greater expressiveness that anticipates the romantic period.

Both the Bach Concerto and Mozart's "Overture to The Impressario" were well played, with much of the lightness and transparency of the pieces clearly heard throughout the auditorium.

The delightful "Symphonic Metamorphoses" by Hindemith provided just the right contrast to the earlier part of the program. In refashioning Carl Maria von Weber's themes to his own style, Hindemith pays tribute to the 19th century heritage while employing 20th century harmonic and rhythmic techniques. The result is one of Hindemith's most listenable works.

The lush Romantic theme of the third movement and the familiar martial theme of the Finale are both beautifully ornamented with an elaborate linear accompaniment. The performance of the work by the Indianapolis Symphony was meticulously detailed and exciting.

Rich Sonorities

Richmaninoff's "Second Symphony" again displayed the rich sonorities of the string section. Closely allied to Tschaikowsky in spirit and expression, the broad sweep of this heroic and singing work makes it a favorite of concert-goers.

Members of the Lincoln Community Concert Association expressed their enthusiasm for this symphony and the entire evening's fare by prolonged applause which brought back Mr. Solomon for two encores — "Saturday Night" by Robert Sanders and "Overture to Candide" by Leonard Bernstein.

Hunting Dog Manages To Shoot Master

Nelson (AP)—A Nelson pheasant hunter was treated at a Lincoln hospital Tuesday for a shotgun wound inflicted by his hunting dog.

Mrs. Robert C. Smith of Nelson said her husband shot a pheasant, carefully laid down his gun and went over to pick up the bird. His dog stepped on the gun causing it to discharge and the charge struck Smith in the foot.

Doctors say Smith may be on crutches for three months before the wound is completely healed.

Pill Case Going To Juvenile Court

Omaha (AP)—Douglas County Attorney Donald Knowles said Tuesday a sleeping pill incident at Westside High School will be referred to the Juvenile Court.

He said all nine students involved are 17 years of age or younger. All nine took the pills and two required hospitalization, he added.

Supt. H. Vaughn Phelps said three youths have been expelled and four reinstated on probation.

Police Chief Richard R. Anderson had said Monday that school officials were obligated to notify police and "not try to handle criminal acts of a serious nature as though they were minor childhood pranks."

Phelps countered that "at this point to our knowledge no laws were broken," and said "the school could not legally implicate any child. That would have to be done by the parents."

Knowles said his office has no samples of the pills, but he said they were barbiturates and apparently members of the hypnotic drug family covered by a section of Nebraska law separate from narcotic drugs, he said.

The police investigation revealed that a 17-year-old student had taken the pills from the family's apartment house locker without permission. The father, formerly a drug salesman, said he thought he had gotten rid of all of his samples.

Regents To Meet

Tiemann 'Governor Of U.S.'

Superior (AP) — A gaffe by the toastmaster provided Gov. Norbert Tiemann with the opportunity for a political quip at a Chamber of Commerce public affairs luncheon in Superior Tuesday.

Chamber president Dick Rempe introduced Tiemann as "the governor of the United States," and Tiemann hastily countered that some of the loyal opposition felt he shouldn't even be governor of Nebraska.

The governor devoted most of his talk to Nebraska's tax problem but had these other comments:

—He was not opposed to the new salaries given the presidents of state colleges, but was not in favor of the way they were arranged.

—He is opposed to requiring churches and schools to charge sales tax on items they sell at fund raising affairs.

—Nebraska is losing patronage at its recreational areas because of inadequate roads leading to them.

CD Directors To Meet In Alliance

Alliance (AP) — Nebraska Civil Defense directors will hold a fall convention in Alliance Nov. 18-19.

Speakers will include Clayton Yeutter, administrative aide to Gov. Norbert Tiemann; Col. Burl Johnson, assistant state Civil Defense director, and Joan Heinzman, Grand Island Civil Defense director.

EVENTS
IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The case of Negro comedian Dick Gregory and his recent appearance at the University of Nebraska seems to be about closed, but not before demonstrating a basic weakness in the thinking of many people, including Gov. Norbert Tiemann.

Probably very few people would agree with all Greggory's words and we would be with them. However you cut it, Gregory spoke disparagingly of the American flag and advanced a militancy in civil rights matters that fails to serve the cause of justice.

We do not subscribe to great protestations of national loyalty, on the theory that your life should serve as an adequate example of your patriotism. If you have to go about selling everyone on how patriotic you are, chances are it is something you mouth but fail to practice.

Just the same, the American flag is a symbol of our nation and should be treated with respect. It is wrong to wear it as a shirt but it is wrong, too, to trample it underfoot as Gregory did.

We believe the Negro militant is wrong, too, because the problems of that race can never be solved through force. Improved education and broader opportunity are the keys to true freedom on the part of all minority groups.

We are not ignorant of those things which encourage militancy on the part of some Negroes and we are fully aware that the white race is responsible for these things. We can understand the militant Negro quite easily but simply do not condone him.

For one thing, militancy fails to recognize a widespread lack of understanding on the part of vast numbers of people of all races. This militancy encourages the extremism and violence that are the expected product of a dormant mind and there are many of these in both the Negro and white race.

The ignorant might be excused in their extremism but men such as Gregory should know better, should be forces of moderation and intelligent leadership. Gregory once was but seems to have changed.

But what about others in this now celebrated case? They are ignoring those things Gregory said that were true, that were an indictment of those to whom they were applicable.

Gregory was telling us that it is wrong to salute the flag and then fail to vote; wrong to sing "The Star Spangled Banner" and then slander your neighbor; wrong to march in a military parade and then discriminate against your fellow citizens; wrong to extol your nation's virtues and then hate another human being; wrong to subscribe to law and order and then commit violence against the person of another; wrong to espouse the cause of justice and then abuse its universal application; wrong to uphold integrity and then cheat and lie to achieve your goals; wrong to speak of equal opportunity and then to extend it on a limited basis.

What Gregory was telling us was that the flag as a symbol loses all meaning when the principles for which it stands are not applied in the daily circumstances of life. What you say, to use an often stated phrase, is not so important as what you do.

Unfortunately, in his choice of words and his effort to dramatize his remarks, Gregory all but destroyed the essence of what he had to say. And then, some have gone further and attacked even the idea that Gregory appeared on the University of Nebraska campus.

Governor Tiemann defended his appearance but has questioned at least the propriety if not the right of faculty members who might have stood and applauded Gregory. But is such action not their right, even though we may disagree with it? And is it not possible that those applauding did so from an understanding that would have been applauded by all who shared it?

Just as disturbing as Gregory's words are the lack of an honest search for his meaning and the clear threat to faculty members for their exercise of free thought and free expression.

DON MacLEAN
Take This Pocket Guide On Your Vietnam Jaunt

WASHINGTON — At last I have a copy of the Defense Department's charming little "Pocket Guide to Vietnam." No soldier or carefree tourist bound for that enchanting land should be without one.

The first chapter is entitled "Opportunity Unlimited." While it admits that "the dangers of ambush and raid will make sightseeing impossible in some places," it goes on to say that "you may get in some good swimming or deep-sea fishing from the quiet beaches of the South China Sea or a hunting expedition on the high plateaus inland."

As you might expect, the Defense Department pegs Vietnam as "a study in contrast." (Was there ever a travel book which did NOT describe the country to be visited as one of contrasts? I doubt it.) Among the contrasts the DOD offers us is this: "Fragile girls in colorful ao dai costumes strolling gracefully along city boulevards; loin-clothed tribesmen with ivory plugs in their ear lobes trotting along forest trails."

Under "Useful Phrases" we have the Vietnamese words for "Where do you live?" (just in case one wants to meet a fragile girl or a loin-clothed tribesman) and "I don't like to eat fruit at all," which it's smart not to do in Southeast Asia. Unfortunately, the book does not give us the Vietnamese phrase for "Don't drink the water."

Some of the statements in the guide are somewhat less than startling. For instance, there is this: "Some 27 million people speak Vietnamese as their first language. The great majority of them live in Vietnam." How odd. I would have guessed that most of them lived in Buenos Aires.

The guide is liberally illustrated, mostly with pictures of pretty girls. However, readers are warned against frequenting native restaurants, other than well-known ones, and places that serve alcoholic beverages. (Horrors!)

Finally, there is the thrilling story of the Thrung sisters, who, some thousand years ago, helped rid Vietnam of the Chinese: "Mounted on elephants, the Thrung sisters led 80,000 of their countrymen against the Chinese governor who had beheaded the husband of the elder sister." Sadly enough, the Chinese soon returned and the Thrungs flung themselves into the river, where they drowned. Vietnamese affairs have been in a turmoil ever since.

NRA Suffers A Defeat

The announcement that the Army will not hold the 1968 national rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, is cheering news to supporters of gun control legislation. By holding the matches at Camp Perry, the U.S. Army was, in effect, subsidizing the National Rifle Association, chief opponent of gun controls.

Now this subsidy is gone, at least temporarily, at a savings of about $1.1 million.

The whole gun-control controversy has been perplexing to the Republican party. It is the Republicans who shout the loudest about "crime in the street," and yet it is the Republicans who most strongly oppose gun controls. Almost by definition, gun controls are crime controls, but opposition remains.

President Johnson has said, "Talking about morality, speaking about crime, deploring the conditions cannot get the job done. The time is here and now to stand up and vote against crime."

Sen. Roman Hruska of Nebraska has sponsored a watered-down gun-control bill, imposing restrictions on handguns only. The Los Angeles Times said that when asked why he is opposed to applying the gun sale curbs to rifles and shotguns, Hruska said, "Because it would impose a lot of hardship and red tape on sportsmen."

President Johnson, however, has asked, ". . . who would measure inconvenience against the personal safety and security of thousands of American citizens?"

The President clearly has an edge in the argument as it now stands. Gun controls won't affect the legitimate sportsman. Nor will they cause our defense posture to deteriorate. The day of the minuteman is past. And with the Army's withdrawal from the Camp Perry setup, perhaps the day of the National Rifle Association is past, too.

Presidential Primaries Lacking

Discussion continues around the favorite-son candidacy of Nebraska's Sen. Roman Hruska in the 1968 primary. If the candidacy becomes reality, it will make a kind of farce out of that primary, billed as an all-star affair.

The real fact is that the all-star primary leaves a lot to be desired, too, but it probably should prevail in the light of its enactment by the Legislature. A favorite-son drive destroys the all-star concept by injecting a factor that puts everything out of balance.

Many voters will cast their ballot for the favorite son, making it no contest among candidates seriously interested in the party's presidential nomination on a national scale. The favorite-son device is merely a means of serving the ends of political maneuvering in the national convention. It ties a delegation up and frees those in control to swing delegation votes as the situation demands.

Probably the best system would be to elect totally uncommitted delegates who could go to the national convention and vote their convictions. The all-star primary system is simply a popularity contest that tends to become meaningless as the number of candidates entered in the contest grows.

Our entire presidential nominating and electing process leaves a lot to be desired but no one has yet been able to come up with an acceptable substitute. Probably the weakest thing of all is the favorite-son technique which removes the nominating process as far as possible from the average citizen and places it in the smoke-filled rooms scattered throughout the national convention city.

Anonymous House Vote Nixes Meat Bill; Busy Lobbyists Use Every Trade Trick

WASHINGTON—Congressmen who were pushing a strict meat inspection bill could have won their battle for the housewives if they hadn't observed the rules of "The Club."

Shortly before the vote on the pro-housewives meat inspection bill, Chairman William Poage, D-Tex., of the House Agriculture Committee, confided to Reps. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, and Thomas Foley, D-Wash., that Blaine Liljenquist of the Western States Meat Packers had sent a letter raising campaign funds for congressmen who favored the meat packers by limiting inspection of meat in intrastate commerce.

Poage got word of the letter, knew that every congressman would have to vote against the lobby and for a tough meat inspection bill if it became public. So he called in Smith and Foley, talked to them in "strict confidence."

They respected the rules of "The Club" and said nothing. Had they tipped off the press to Liljenquist's brazen campaign funds tactics, public reaction would have been so strong that the tougher meat packing bill would have passed the House overwhelmingly. As it was, it was defeated by a non-recorded 140-to-98 teller vote.

It was no surprise that members of the House Agriculture Committee voted for the meat packers and against the housewives. Few observers thought that a majority of congressmen would dare to vote against the housewives on the open floor of the House. They got away with it, however, by taking a teller vote, not a role call. When tellers are used, House members are counted numerically as they file quickly down the middle aisle. Their names are not recorded, therefore the housewives cannot be sure how they voted.

Before the teller vote, the meat lobbyists buttonholed congressmen in the corridors and cloakrooms, then watched from the gallery to make sure they voted against federal inspection of plants now dumping bad meat on the intrastate market. The buttonhole brigade was led by Aled Davies, chief lobbyist for the American Meat Institute.

The meat lobby also organized a last-minute telephone campaign that deluged the Capitol switchboard with long-distance calls from meat packers and state officials back home who implored House members to vote against intrastate inspection or, at least, to stay off the floor. With only 238 of the 435 members voting, obviously a great number took the latter advice and ducked the vote.

Since the meat lobbyists were watching from the gallery and the housewives were home keeping house, most of the congressmen evidently felt they could get away with casting anonymous ballots. However, this column was also watching from the gallery and was able to see how a few key congressmen voted.

All the Republicans on the House floor voted for the meat packers and against the housewives except 12. Of the dozen, this column was able to identify Reps. William Cahill of New Jersey, Florence Dwyer of New Jersey, Gilbert Gude of Maryland, Thomas Pelly of Washington, and Seymour Halpern, Frank Horton and Theodore Kupferman, all of New York.

The housewives got most of their support from Democrats from Massachusetts, Michigan, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania. They got little support from California, none at all from Georgia. All the Georgia congressmen voted for the packers' right to sell bad meat.

Many of the California Democrats fled from the floor before the vote, but this scolumn spotted one, Rep. Jeff Cohelan, lining up to vote for the housewives.

Most of the Democrats from Illinois, a big packing state, also skipped out on the vote. Only three were identified—Reps. Mel Price, Barratt O'Hara and William Murphy—voting for the housewives.

The strategy of the meat lobby is to try to rush the bill through the Senate in a hurry before the housewives' lobby can get busy. Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., has an excellent bill in the Senate, and if there's enough consumer support, it could be substituted for the weaker House Bill just passed.

MARQUIS CHILDS
America's Age Of Innocence

WASHINGTON — Fifty years ago America's ambassador to Russia was a stout-hearted St. Louis banker named David R. Francis. His cynical colleagues in the diplomatic corps said his most conspicuous distinction was that he took with him wherever he went, including his box at the opera in St. Petersburg, a traveling spittoon. It was a very special spittoon with a foot pedal that, when pressed, opened the top for proper use.

Returning home in 1919 after a considerable stay in London, Francis said in an interview that he gave Bolshevism only a few weeks or months before the Russian people, with their patriotism and good sense, would rise and wipe it out. He told the reporters that Leon Trotsky had tried to scare him but, being a Missourian by adoption and a Kentuckian by birth, he didn't scare worth a cent.

That was America's age of innocent which went on for an unconscionable time. On the 50th anniversary of the Soviet Revolution, the contrast with those days of America's innocent isolation could hardly be sharper.

Despite diplomatic amenities and solemn declarations of the desire for coexistence, the two giants face each other across a great divide of hostility and suspicion. In the nuclear arms race and in the back-alley war of espionage and subversion, Americans and Russians on each side of the divide are engaged in platoons and whole divisions in silent and yet nonetheless lethal warfare.

In the headlines the back-alley war often gets a bigger play than the infinitely more serious contest over missiles and anti-missiles. Symptomatic of the tension was Moscow's reaction to Svetlana Alliluyeva's decision to seek asylum in the United States and publish her memoirs here. The Kremlin saw this as a plot engineered by the CIA to bring about the defection of Stalin's daughter, with the timing intended to cause the utmost embarrassment during the anniversary celebration.

So far as can be determined, the CIA had nothing to do with Svetlana's wandering into the American embassy in New Delhi requesting to be allowed to come to this country. The thrust of her often confused and melancholy memoir was not intentionally anti-Soviet. It did reveal how compietely the life of the top rulers was divorced from that of the common people, and this revelation cannot have been a happy one for a society based on the theory of socialist equality.

In the game of one-upmanship in defectors, the Soviets were bound to come up with a counter. They have produced a small fish named John Smith, who is now writing his memoirs for the weekly Literary Gazette. Two installments have appeared without demolishing the CIA.

The Soviets spend at least three to four times as much as the United States on the spy business, David Wise and Thomas Ross say in their forthcoming book, "The Espionage Establishment." It is a murky, obsessive world in which little fish like John Smith get hooked as well as far bigger fish. One of the biggest fish in recent years — some would say since the end of World War II — is Yevgeny Yevgenyvich Runge, who is now in the Washington area under intensive interrogation by the CIA.

Runge, who defected in West Berlin with his family, forwarded thousands of secret documents providing vital information on NATO out of Bonn to the Soviet Union. The damage is still under assessment. As invariably happens when a big fish swims into the net, little fish are betrayed. In Bonn the shock wave of Runge's defection is still reverberating.

The back-alley war is inseparably entwined with the nuclear arms race. The CIA's highest priority is to determine the extent of the anti-ballistic missile system being installed around Moscow and several other areas. It is not hard to imagine the hundreds, even thousands, of agents and sub-agents at work on this assignment in every corner of the world. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's announcement that the Soviets are almost certainly developing an orbital nuclear bomb was based on a mosaic of intelligence reports like the pieces in a gigantic jig-saw puzzle.

Only a reckless prophet would venture to say what the state of relations between the U.S.A. and the USSR will be on the hundredth anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. David Francis, observing that unruly mob before the Winter Palace in St. Petersburg, could never have dreamed of today's confrontation. In 1967 the enigma is as dark and shrouded as in 1917.

Foolin' Around

Lincoln, Neb.

A few thoughts on a timely subject:

Where did Denney go, O,
where did Denney go?
He went to Congress, the voters told him so.

What did Denney do, O,
what did Denney do?
Well, gosh, gee whiz, I wish I knew.

How does Denney serve,
O, how does Denney
serve?
Who's Denney?

The people of Nebraska's First Congressional District face a serious crisis. They sent what's-his-name to the House of Representatives, but he hasn't been heard since. Maybe he got lost in that little subway between the Capitol building and the Senate Office Building the first time he went over to ask old Roman and sagacious Carl T. for advice. The Missings Persons' Bureau reports that such disappearances are common with this type.

The party of the wart hogs with the longer-than-De Gaulle nose has succeeded in electing another congressman in name only. What's-his-name doesn't even begin to compare with the district's former congressman. But this is explained by the fact that I heard someone say that what's-his-name truthfully commented, "I've been foolin' around in politics for years." He still does —fool around, that is.

Robin And Robbin'

Alexandria, Neb.

Robin Hood robbed the rich who strayed too near Sherwood Forest, and gave to the poor.

Walter Reuther robs us all and gives to his labor union members.

There is another difference: For his petty pilferings. Robin Hood risked his life by hanging if the law caught up with him. Reuther takes no such sporting chance. He collects his enormous take with the aid and protection of present-day horrendous laws — the very special laws which protect the nefarious doings of the heads of labor unions.

Protection Need

Hastings, Neb.

While Governor Norbert Tiemann is very anxious to get more federal funds for Nebraska highways, Nebraska highway employes are asking: "How come we are not covered by the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act, or by a state insurance plan that will give us proper protection, especially when we are required to work 24 hours a day to keep the highways open in the most severe winter weather?"

Is it possible that Governor Tiemann is more interested in his own comfort and convenience than in the welfare of Nebraska highway employes?

The members of the Unicameral Legislature should consider the need for giving the highway employes insurance protection, instead of continuing to lick Governor Tiemann's boots.

Show Appreciated

Lincoln, Neb.

A couple weeks ago we had the extreme pleasure of attending one of the finest, if not the finest, shows we have ever seen in Lincoln at Pershing Municipal Auditorium.

This show featured "The Kids Next Door" and George Kirby and was sponsored by Mr. Glenn Baldwin who is the owner of General Tobacco & Candy Company of Lincoln.

To see "The Kids Next Door" was something to behold. They were very neat, versatile and had very fine voices. Their show ran for a good three-quarters of an hour and it was very well produced.

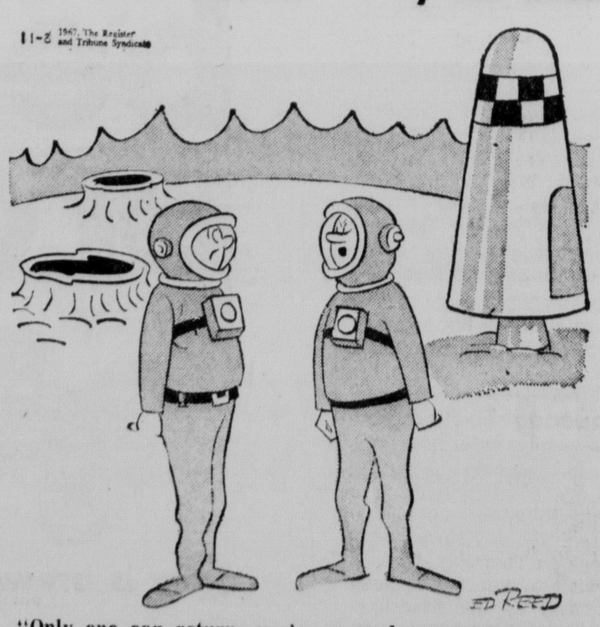

George Kirby, as usual, was in very good form and needless to say is one of the top entertainers in the business.

All told, this show lasted for an hour and a half—and it was free. Imagine that!

Yes, Glenn Baldwin gave Lincoln residents a real gift in this show, and our hats are off to him. Many thanks.

House GOPs Threaten 50% Cut Of Antipoverty Budget

Washington (UPI) — House Republicans, charging Sargent Shriver has built "a monument to administrative asininity," threatened Tuesday to cut his antipoverty budget by 50%.

But proponents of the war on poverty shouted their support of Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, as debate began on President Johnson's request for a $2.06 billion antipoverty bill.

A Republican resolution is expected to be offered Thursday to continue OEO programs as they are but limit spending to $1.2 billion for the current fiscal year.

Shriver said Monday he would quit as OEO director if that figure was approved by Congress.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., said, "I don't know of any other agency in this government that has made as many mistakes as OEO.

"Many of us believe that OEO is a monument to administrative asininity," he said.

Continue

The bill would continue all poverty programs under OEO jurisdiction but would turn over control of local community action programs to state and city officials.

Goodell and Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., Monday introduced a revised version of their "opportunity crusade" substitute bill for the committee measure.

The GOP version would retain the present arrangement of OEO contracting directly with private agencies for local community action programs but would transfer all other programs such as Job Corps and Neighborhood Youth Corps to other government agencies.

NOW THE BOTTOMLESS

Judge Refuses To Bar Vote On Housing Standards Code

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin Tuesday denied a temporary restraining order which would have blocked the special city election Nov. 14 on the Minimum Housing Standards Code.

In the order, Judge Ronin said there was "insufficient evidence to warrant any exception to the application of the general rule of law in this jurisdiction that an equity court will not inquire into the validity or constitutionality of a proposed ordinance in a special election in advance or enjoin it for such reasons."

The order clears the way for the election challenged in the suit brought by Lincoln Attorney Merril R. Reller, but a hearing on the merits of the ordinance and its constitutionality, also challenged in the suit, will be held after the election if the ordinance passes.

Reller contended that if the election were held "irreparable loss would be incurred" and that the special election is solely to secure passage of the ordinance after the people have voted down a similar ordinance and that the election is a waste of public funds.

The suit also seeks an order declaring the ordinance, if passed, unconstitutional and void.

Mrs. W. Schneider Elected New Head Of Tabitha Group

Mrs. William Schneider was elected president of the Tabitha Care Corps Tuesday and Mrs. Dale Bruggeman was named secretary.

Mrs. Carroll Thompson will continue to serve as vice president of the corps and Mrs. Lorin Wolff remained the organization's treasurer.

Service awards were presented to volunteer workers for their services to Tabitha Home. Special citations went to those who had given over 100 hours during the past year in voluntary service to the home.

In a review of the recently initiated "Meals on Wheels" program, Tabitha Care Corps Coordinator Mrs. Lucille Jeffries noted that as many as 11 elderly community residents benefited from the hot meal program during one day last week.

The two-week-old program has nine regular participants, but corps volunteers are hoping for as many as 16 next week.

The program is designed to provide a hot noon meal to elderly citizens in the area. The meals are delivered by volunteers each day during the hours of 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Mrs. Thompson viewed the program as "very successful" and said, "It has proved that such a program was and is needed in the community. We are starting to fill that need," she added.

Johnson Sends Soviets Telegram

Washington (UPI)—President Johnson Tuesday congratulated the Soviet Union on its 50th anniversary with a message expressing hope for lasting and stable world peace.

The message was in a telegram to Chairman Nikolai Podgorny of the Soviet Presidium. It was released here and in Moscow.

1968 Feed Grains Program To Draw Heavy Participation, Ag Official Says

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Near 1,000 state and county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) personnel were told in the opening session of their annual state conference here Monday that farmer participation in the 1968 feed grains program would be higher than it has been for the past two years.

Robert S. Bergland, director of the Midwest ASCS area, Washington, D.C., told ASCS committeemen and office personnel that the improved income features of the 1968 feed grains program will result in a heavier signup by farmers for the next crop season.

Bergland said the Washington ASCS office is receiving reports from various states that indicate participation west of the Mississippi River that would match or exceed previous years compliance with the program.

Reports also indicate a much heavier response from

ROBERT S. BERGLAND

Illinois and other states east of the Mississippi River where farmers that did not comply with the program in 1967 are faced with low corn prices and no support for the crop now being harvested, he said.

"In these areas where the program has not been strongly accepted before, we look for much more participation as farmers seek some protection from the low prices they are now receiving for their corn," said Bergland.

He encouraged the community and county committeemen to visit the bankers and businessmen in their areas to explain the program provisions and to inform urban residents of the financial impact the program can make.

University of Nebraska Regent Robert Raun of Norman, in speaking to the conference on "The Role of the University in Nebraska Agriculture," predicted an increasingly important role for the university in the state's agriculture.

He said the University of Nebraska's college of agriculture and home economics means higher production, greater efficiency and a more prosperous farm economy.

"The university has also been a prime contributor to a more meaningful and enjoyable life on the farm," said Raun.

The ASCS conference Wednesday will feature workshops and a study of the news media, plus a study of farm opportunities. The conference concludes Thursday.

Drafting Of Interfering Students Is Suggested

Washington (UPI)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey has recommended that college students who physicially interfere with military recruiting officers on campus be subject to immediate drafting, it was learned Tuesday.

Disclosure of Hershey's letter to local draft boards across the country followed incidents in which recruiters for the armed forces as well as the Dow Chemical Co., which manufacturers napalm for use in Vietnam, were blocked by student antiwar demonstrators.

In a letter dated Oct. 26, Hershey noted that student deferments are "given only when they serve the national interest." By the same token, he said, anyone who violates the Selective Service Act or any of its regulations or operations should be denied a deferment in the national interest.

Hershey's letter made no mention of the antirecruitment incidents. But a spokesman in his office said it was clear that Hershey considered any interference with a military recruiting officer to be illegal.

Farm Editor 'Links Rural, Urban'

A "cabinet level" group of USDA Soil Conservation Service information personnel meeting in Lincoln Tuesday were told that newspaper farm editors are writing for papers with a combined circulation of 8,822,000.

"Putting it another way, no matter where your conservation area is, there is a farm editor watching," said Milwaukee Journal farm editor Loren H. Osman, president of the Newspaper Farm Editors Association of America.

Osman described the newspaper farm editor as "highly individualistic" in his field and one who senses a particular opportunity to bridge the understanding gap between the farmer and urban dweller, between the producer and consumer and between government agencies with both rural and urban interests.

LOREN H. OSMAN
'Editors Watching'

He told the SCS information unit workers the Newspaper Farm Editors Association of America already has 125 members and that membership has been gaining. Members range from coast to coast and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico, he said.

Osman said the field of the agricultural writer has developed an increasing cosmopolitan approach with the vast field of the agricultural writer including agribusiness, rural-social aspects and economic change with more attention given natural resources.

"Topics such as recreation and urban decentralization have become a part of the scene for the farm writer," said Osman.

He listed government farm programs and conservation stories as being high on the list of priority for farm writing.

"When changes come along in farm programs or conservation, it is the farm editor's job to explain them," said Osman.

In discussing the readership for farm stories Osman said, "I sense a more articulate, more informed farm audience. The full-time farmer is better educated, and we have a new breed—the absentee landowner and the part-time farmer—who have helped inject some of the urban approach into rural areas. Today's farmer is an enlightened businessman who understands that land must be operated according to its capabilities," he said.

Impala Custom Coupe

From Impala, world's most popular car

The silent ride of quality for '68

Now there are more good reasons than ever why people should prefer Impala. Like all regular Chevrolets, it's even further ahead for '68!

A more hushed ride

Among other things, we refined and improved everything about the ride to make it surprisingly smooth and silent. Just try it and see. You'll find that our engineers used electronic computers to pinpoint places where noises might develop, and installed a special network of rubber cushions to keep squeaks and rattles from disturbing your comfort.

We doubt that you've ever driven a car that moves so noiselessly.

The look you like best

People have always preferred Impala's looks. So for 1968 we made it even more beautiful. We gave the grille a more massive and masculine look. We gave the hood sweeping new lines and tucked the wipers neatly out of sight. We designed the taillights right into the rear bumper for a look you're sure to like.

We owe you the best

We figure we owe people more than other car makers do.

Because it was people who put us in first place in the first place, and who keep us there year after year.

We appreciate it.

All Solons Urged To Fight Hike

. . . IN SALES TAX

Democratic National Committeewoman Maurine Biegert Tuesday sent letters to all 49 state senators urging them to oppose an increase in the sales tax rate to 3%.

The current 2½% rate is scheduled to dip to 2% effective Jan. 1, 1969, but Gov. Norbert Tiemann has suggested that the Legislature raise the rate to 3%, perhaps at a special session prior to the January 1 date.

Mrs. Biegert wrote lawmakers "asking that you oppose the proposed 50% increase in the sales tax rate from 2% to 3% as advocated by Governor Tiemann."

Enclosed with the letters were copies of a Democratic state executive committee resolution adopted last week, opposing the proposed increase.

"I am sure that after giving this your consideration, you will join with us in opposition to this proposal," Mrs. Biegert wrote. She said she was writing as a taxpayer, as well as committeewoman.

East Teacher Wins Award

Mrs. Nancy D. Fortney, a teacher at the East Educational Complex in Lincoln, has been awarded $250 as second place winner in the Junior High School level of competition in the Calvin K. Kazanjian Economics Foundation's Fifth Annual Teaching Awards Program.

She was cited for excellence in teaching economics by the national Joint Council on Economic Education which administers the program.

Mrs. Grace Schumann of the Robert Gilder School in Omaha, received honorable mention in the primary level awards.

Announcement that a Nebraskan was among the 58 teachers from 22 states who won top cash awards totaling $4500 for excellence in teaching economics was received by Dr. E. S. Wallace, executive director of the Nebraska Council on Economic Education and a University of Nebraska faculty member.

School Grants Available To Farm Youths

Financial grants for higher education, under the Rural Rehabilitation Endowment Fund program, will again be made available to Nebraska farm and ranch youth for the 1968-69 school year, Assistant State Agricultural Director B. H. Jones announced Tuesday.

Jones said applications must be submitted to local Farm Home Administration (FHA) offices not later than Feb. 15.

Application forms and detailed information are available at FHA offices or from the state department.

Grants up to $800, depending upon the financial need of the student, may be made by the state advisory committee.

Eligible students must be from a farm or ranch family, be a senior or graduate of an approved or accredited high school, need financial assistance, demonstrate satisfactory scholarship and plan to enroll in school owned by the State of Nebraska or governmental subdivision.

Jones said 150 students were awarded grants totaling about $80,000 for the current school year, and a similar amount will be available for the next school year.

The grants are made from the Nebraska Rural Rehabilitation Corporation Fund under an agreement between the State Agricultural Department and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

State Vehicle Insurance To Lumbermen's

Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Co., Chicago, a member of the Kemper insurance group, has become the supplier of liability insurance coverage for drivers of some 4,800 state-owned vehicles.

The firm's net bid of $78,870 for one year's coverage was adjudged the best among 10 bids submitted last month, State Insurance Director Ben Neff said Tuesday.

Nebraska has not previously provided liability protection for state employes operating state-owned vehicles. The 1967 Legislature reversed the policy with passage of LB503, which took effect Oct. 23. The measure authorized protection for drivers of all vehicles except those of the University of Nebraska and State Military Department.

The coverage allows up to $50,000 for death or bodily injury of one person, up to $100,000 for deaths or injuries in one accident, and up to $10,000 for property damage.

Chamber Gets Accreditation

The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce Tuesday was named an accredited organization by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, according to Lincoln Chamber president Walter E. Nolte.

Nolte said the Lincoln Chamber is one of 116 chambers across the nation to receive such an honor.

The accreditation program is a voluntary program of self-study and included evaluation of standards of performance in planning and programming and conducting a well-balanced and productive program of work.

Nolte noted that Ralph Shelton, accrediting officer of the U.S. Chamber said fewer problem areas were discovered in the Lincoln Chamber's report and subsequent inspection than in any of the chambers he had reviewed thus far.

Accreditation is given to a chamber for five years subject to an annual review. At the end of the five years, the accreditation process is repeated.

Pilot Builds Sopwith

Toronto, a test pilot, has built a Sopwith Pup, one of the top Allied single-seat fighters of World War I. Neal, who began flying it in September, said he built the plane "just for my own pleasure and to find out just what the original pilots had to put up with."

Gold's housewares third floor

Said the American ambassador: "The price of steel determines costs in American economy. In Japan it is the price of the public bath."

The "o-furo" —the honorable hot bath —is the first thing Americans learn about in Japan. The Japanese maid draws the bath. In Japanese inns, she gives you the bath.

It takes a good deal of poise when a strange female strips you, pours buckets of boiling water on you, and then scrubs you like a shirt.

However, you can get used to it. Just tell them: "Now hear this: Sweepers man your brooms. Clean sweep down, fore and aft."

The daily bath for a Japanese household is as necessary eating. Since most houses don't have them—(lack of hot water, lack of room)—whole families go to public baths.

In Japan's economy, it is a serious cost. The bath costs 28 yen for adults, 16 yen for children.

There's talk of raising bath prices to 35 yen. The ambassador said all Japan is up in arms about it. Prime ministers have fallen over bath prices.

For the Japanese playboy (and the American visitor) there are baths where you pay 1000 to 5000 yen.

They are pleasure palaces, as elegant as nightclubs.

Their advertisements promise Arabian Nights delights.

"Relax and forget your worries! Bathe yourself to music!

"Pretty girls! Night clubs! Bar and restaurant!"

In these steamy establishments, the visitor is greeted by a hostess. Music pours like syrup from stereo speakers into luxurious sitting rooms. You can read the papers and have tea or a whiskey-soda.

You choose your own bath girl from a pool of bath girls.

She is a doll. Usually works in a bikini.

You are escorted into a private bathroom. Undressed — "You big baby-san. Me little mama-san."

They put you in a steam cabinet. Pull you out lobster-red. Soap you. Rinse you. Put you in the deep-dish Japanese soaking bath.

Finally, you are pulled out and put on a massage table where the young lady pounds you like a steak.

Put on your clothes and — sayonara.

It is a moving experience for an American on a first visit to Japan. Many of them feel that it is lewd and lascivious and shows that the Japanese have no morals.

The Japanese feel that baths are good for you. And Japanese maids can hardly conceal their disgust when they see Western-style bathrooms in Western-style hotels.

The idea of washing and soaking in your own dirty water is appalling.

And to put a toilet and bath in the same room! — how horrid can you be?

The bath in a Japanese inn will spoil you for all other bathrooms. The floor is unpainted plank. And specially matched and fragrant wood at that. The tub is plank, too.

Once you have soaked in a plank tub, you too will shudder at the feeling of our slippery, marble tubs.

You dip up (or the maid dips up) wooden buckets of water. She throws them on you as you sit on a little wooden stool. You are washed. The wash water goes on the floor and out between the planks.

Now that you are clean, you can get into the clean tub, into clean water. Soak there. The maid slides back the shoji screen. The window frames an outdoor garden and a flowering tree. And home was never like this.

Homecomings Warm Up Suburbia

There's nothing more exciting than a homecoming weekend in the neighborhood. Whether it's a small, private family homecoming or one of the two big college celebrations that happens every fall in Lincoln, the anticipation of seeing familiar faces and holding warm reunions keeps out the winter's chills for weeks to come.

One such weekend has passed, and entertaining a guest in Park Valley Heights during the Wesleyan University homecoming festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Eastman who had as their houseguest Mrs. Eastman's sister, Miss Luetta Wenquist. It was more of a family reunion for Miss Wenquist — in fact, the young lady is a senior at Hastings College and attended the NWU-Hastings football game as a member of the homecoming opposition.

But, two actual Plainsmen rooters did arrive at the Eastman home. Mrs. Eastman's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kovar of Broken Bow, are especially loyal fans since their son George Kovar is a member of the team.

Arriving from Redwood City, Calif., to visit at the Maple Village home of Mr. and Mrs. Junior R. Lorenson recently were Mrs. Lorenson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Littrell and their very new and very young son, Larry.

Flying into the city preceding her husband, Mrs. Littrell spent two weeks visiting with family members including her mother, Mrs. Katherine Donlan. Mr. Littrell, who flew in last weekend, and his family were also the houseguests of Mr. Littrell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Littrell.

Friends and family have been visiting with Marine Pvt. Frank Esquivel who returned home recently for a month's leave. Pvt. Esquivel, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Esquivel of Southbrook Summit, will resume his service duties on Nov. 16, in California.

---

Quite a few members of the Charles Vosta family gathered on Sunday at the Vosta home to celebrate two very important birthdays. Helping Mr. Vosta and his granddaughter, Karen Bice, celebrate their anniversaries (Karen's 6th, by the way) were the young lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bice, her brother, Steve, Mrs. Vosta; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lehr of Ashland, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lehr of Colon, and Mrs. Hilma Kirchman of Broken Bow.

Another double celebration took place in Lincoln Heights, and on a Sunday, too. The honorees at a combination surprise birthday party and wedding anniversary were Carl Glantz and Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Anderson. We should mention that the birthday surprise really worked — Mr. Glantz was completely surprised — and that it was the 33rd anniversary celebration for Mr. and Mrs. Anderson.

Guests for the evening included Mr. Glantz's sons and daughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Loos, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Glantz, Mrs. Eileen Fowler and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Glantz; Miss Linda Glaussen, Mr. and Mrs. George Michael of Walton, Mrs. Delores Barowski and family, and the Anderson's daughter, Debra.

Making a new home in Lincoln this week are Mr. and Mrs. Larry D. Brown who are Northeast Heights residents at a 1936 No. 56th St. address. Natives of Nebraska, Mr. and Mrs. Brown are former residents of North Platte.

The family includes three very active young men — David, 9; Steven, 7, and Patrick, 6, — who like to camp and enjoy water sports along with their parents. Mr. Brown is associated with the U.S. Weather Bureau in Lincoln.

MISS CAROL KLIMENT

Announcement is being made this morning of the betrothal of Miss Carol Kliment of Lincoln, to Jack Guggenmos, son of Mrs. Fred Guggenmos of Dorchester, and the late Mr. Guggenmos, by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kliment of Crete.

Plans are being made for a wedding on Friday, Dec. 29, in Crete.

Miss Kliment is careering in Lincoln, where her fiance is a senior at the University of Nebraska and a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

A graduate of Ft. Hays State College, Ft. Hays, Kan., Miss Boyd is a member of the faculty of Northeast High School. Dr. Sturgeon is a graduate of the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, N.D., and received his graduate degrees from Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich. He is a member of the University of Nebraska Chemistry Department faculty.

November Brides-Elect Honored

The prenuptial courtesies have begun for Miss Sheila Jo Corgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Corgan, who has chosen Saturday, Nov. 25, for her marriage to Theodore J. Tierney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tierney of Omaha.

This evening, the bride-elect will be presented a personal shower at an informal party for which Mrs. Robert Devaney and Mrs. James Ross will be hostesses. The courtesy will be held at the home of Mrs. Devaney, and the guests will include wives of University of Nebraska athletic department staff members.

The bride-to-be and a group of her friends will go to Omaha on Wednesday, Nov. 15, for an evening courtesy to be given by Miss Judy Faye at her home. And on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 19, Mrs. Edwin Cassen of Omaha, will be hostess at her home to feminine friends of Mr. Tierney's family honoring Miss Corgan.

Honoring the bride-elect last Tuesday were office associates of Mrs. Corgan's at the University of Nebraska Teachers College, who entertained at luncheon at the Faculty Club.

The wedding of Miss Corgan and Mr. Tierney will take place at a 7 o'clock evening ceremony, to be solemnized at the Cathedral Of The Risen Christ.

Mention already has been made of numerous courtesies honoring Miss Roxanne Wiebe of Omaha, who will become the bride of James Charles O'Gara on Wednesday, Nov. 22.

Miss Wiebe was presented a kitchen shower Saturday, Oct. 28, by a group of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority sisters, who honored the bride-to-be at a luncheon at the Open Latch. Co-hostesses for the party were Miss Cynthia Bartlett and Miss Connie Castle.

The bride-elect also was honored recently at a linen shower for which Mrs. Philip Handschuh was hostess at her home in Omaha.

Both Miss Wiebe and her fiance are senior students at the University of Nebraska, where Mr. O'Gara is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

ABBY: stealing is still stealing

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am going to write this quickly and mail it, so I won't have a chance to reconsider and close my eyes to a wrong.

My son recently told me about some youngsters in our neighborhood who steal bikes, remove the parts, rebuild and sell both rebuilt bikes and extra parts. I asked him how these youngsters managed to get away with it without their parents knowing about it, and he says the kids tell their parents that the bike belongs to another boy, and they bought the spare parts with their allowances.

I am appalled at the whole thing. I can't expect my boy to reveal the names of these boys, and my husband would think it unseemly if I were to bring this to the attention of the authorities.

You are the only way I have of warning parents who unkowingly may be allowing their children to continue this practice.

I do not condone my own child's acceptance of this behavior and have asked him to avoid this group of friends until they, too, become aware of their unacceptable behavior and stop it.

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: A boy who is old enough to "rebuild" a bike, is old enough to know he is breaking the law. While your son may not be guilty of stealing, he is guilty of another "crime." (Knowing of thievery and keeping quiet.) I do not approve of friends informing on one another, but a real "friend" would do all in his power to set his companions straight.

I hope the parents of the guilty boys see this, and check out the stories their sons tell about "buying" spare parts, and repairing another boy's bike. And if they discover that their sons have stolen bikes, they should insist they are returned to their rightful owners. Otherwise they should report their own sons to the authorities. Stealing is stealing. And the successful petty thief goes on to bigger things.

DEAR ABBY: I couldn't believe my eyes when I saw where you said it was O.K. for a married man to go to a stag. Don't you know they always have naked women there?

I always tell my husband when he goes out with the boys, if he wants to see a naked lady he should come home.

Opening lead — jack of hearts.

It would certainly not be difficult to make six spades if you could see all the cards. All you'd have to do is ruff a heart in dummy, take a spade finesse, and thus make twelve tricks.

But in real life the hand is not quite that simple. You don't see the East-West cards, and you might therefore lose a trump trick and go down one.

Problems like this occur all the time. In general, when you are missing four to the queen, the best method of play is to cash the A-K rather than finesse against the queen. Barring special circumstances, that is how you will fare best in most hands.

In the present case, South, in six spades, is faced with the possibility of losing a club and a spade. The question is how to play the hand so as to give himself the best chance of making the contract.

Declarer sees that there is no good reason to play the trumps abnormally and that he will therefore lose a spade trick if it develops that either opponent was dealt three to the queen. His thoughts are consequently directed chiefly to the problem of escaping a club loser.

If he times his plays properly, South can accomplish this goal. His aim is to set up an extra diamond trick in dummy to take care of his club loser. He wins the heart lead with the ace, plays a diamond to the ace and ruffs a diamond.

He then cashes the K-A of spades, learning in the process that East has a trump trick coming. Next he cashes the king of diamonds, discarding a club, and ruffs another diamond, thus establishing the nine as a trick.

Now he trumps a heart with the jack and leads the nine of diamonds, discarding the eight of clubs. It does not matter whether or not East ruffs the diamond—the only trick South loses is a trump.

Slow Congress Won't Hurt LAP Unless No Money At All Assigned–May

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Action Program is not likely to be affected by Congress' slow action on the bill appropriating anti-poverty funds unless Congress adjourns without approving any money, LAP Director Arthur May reported Tuesday.

The Lincoln anti-poverty coordinating agency operated on the basis of congressional continuing resolutions until Oct. 23 when the last one expired.

Since then LAP has been using funds left over from other projects and transfering money from grants received for programs approved before July 1 ,the date that the 1966-67 federal appropriations ran out.

LAP has approximately $160,000 cash in its account from the various sources which could finance all of Lincoln's poverty programs "at full capacity through March," according to May.

However, the four VISTA volunteers assigned to Lincoln have been notified that they will not receive their Nov. 15 paycheck or future wages until Congress acts on the anti-poverty funds.

Kathleen Walsh announced that the VISTAs, three women and one man, plan to stay on and "make out with what we have until we see what happens.

"We have a lot of friends here," she added.

'Will Need Rent'

The "domestic Peace Corps" volunteers must meet living expenses with their bimonthly salary. May said the VISTAs' major immediate financial need will be rent at the end of the month.

LAP recently had received notice of approval of $363,084 in federal funds under Title II of the Economic Opportunity Act to finance three unearmarked programs and three earmarked programs through Oct. 1, 1968 by a "letter of credit" on the basis of a continuing resolution.

The latest of the congressional continuing resolutions ran out Oct. 23 — thereby voiding the letter of credit—when the House and Senate passed different bills renewing the continuing resolution. The House bill was $570 million under the Senate version.

'Probably Will Not'

According to May, a Senate-House conference committee has not been able to resolve the difference and "it is thought they probably will not now."

The House started debate on the anti-poverty appropriations bill this week and speculators indicate the final act will be "quite different" from the Senate-passed bill authorizing $2,258 billion, May said.

Action could possibly come sometime next week, he predicted.

By Dec. 1, LAP will evaluate its programs on the basis of the congressional action, May declared, indicating that "we should know by then how much cutting will have to be done, if any."

The LAP funds approved for 1967-68 were at the same level as the 1966-67 spending since Congress had not yet acted. However, if more money is approved than the Office of Economic Opportunity was granted last year, additional funds may be forthcoming to Lincoln.

If the OEO budget is cut, local action programs that already had been approved for funding might be affected. Some 35 community action agencies in the U.S. which did not get in budget proposals under the continuing resolutions have been going out of business ah previous grants run out.

Soviet To Attend

Helsinki (AP) — Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny plans to attend the celebration of the 50th anniversary of Finland's independence in December.

Officials To Study Basin Compact

A spokesman for the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission Tuesday said the commission will look into the merits of an interstate Missouri Basin water compact.

Warren D. Fairchild, commission executive secretary, said the proposal could aid in the development of the basin's water resources.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann also said the compact approach deserves study. He said it would not lead to federal control.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., has suggested the compact as a possible alternative to creation of a water and related land water resources commission in the basin.

Curtis, who opposes a commission on the grounds the federal government would dominate it, said the compact would include representatives of all the basin states and only one reprseentative of the president.

The commission membership would include representatives of all concerned federal agencies. Curtis said this would make the states secondary to the federal government.

Former Democratic Gov. Frank B. Morrison had petitioned Interior Secretary Stewart Udall last year to establish a commission to replace the Missouri Interagency Committee and the Missouri River States Committee.

However, Tiemann, after taking office in January, withdrew the application. He claimed the commission was not needed.

Six of the 10 basin governors must petition the federal government before the agency could be established.

Tiemann said his opposition to the commission has not changed. But, he added, the compact concept "has some merit."

5 New Missiles Shown

. . . BY SOVIETS

© New York Times Service

Moscow—Five new types of Soviet missiles rumbled across the cobblestones of Red Square Tuesday in a military review that climaxed the jubilee celebration of a half-century of Soviet rule.

The biggest of the new weapons was an intercontinental ballistic missile equal estimated to be about 110 feet long. Western military experts believed the rocket was not an improved version of an existing weapon but new in design.

No details were made known. Speaking of the various ICBMs paraded across Red Square, Tass, the Soviet press agency, declared that the mammoth Soviet rockets could be used for intercontinental or orbital launchings and could deliver nuclear warheads of tremendous power. Not a single army in the world has such warheads, Tass said.

Although no distinct divisions were visible on the missile, experts believed it to be a three-stage vehicle powered by liquid fuel.

The other new missiles were:

—An intermediate or medium-range ballistic missile in two stages.

—A tactical missile of a probable range of from 100 to 200 miles.

Naval Missile

—A naval missile, probably for launching by submarine. Experts were unable to tell whether it was a single stage or two-stage rocket.

—An antiaircraft missile, probably for targets in low to medicum altitudes, towed by a carrier.

The only other weapon not previously seen was an armored reconnaissance vehicle with an antitank missile mounted on top of its guns.

Military experts agreed that although the display of military equipment was intended to prove the Soviet Union's continuing stress on missile development, it did not disclose any radically new weapons.

Contrasting with the space-age weaponry was a display of the earlier military power that established and dfended Soviet rule in the bloody civil war that followed the revolution.

Under brilliant sunshine, squadrons of cavalrymen pranced across the square, sabers drawn and faily colored flags flying from lances. The brown, white and dappled horses were matched for size and color and curried as they were in the czarist cavalry.

There also were rows of two-turreted armored cars and tachankas, horse-drawn machine guns on caissons famous in the civil war. The armored cars bore inscriptions of their days—"Comrade Lenin," "Power to the Soviets" or "Capital Is the Enemy."

Marshal Andrei A. Grechko, the defense minister, opened the parde with a brief address. In the past, this has occasioned walkouts by both American and Communist Chinese diplomats. But Tuesday Grechko made only the most routine reference to "the criminal war of the American imperialists in Vietnam" and none at all to China.

The parade was one of the rare recent public events attended by the head of the Chinese diplomatic mission that did not provoke him to leave prematurely.

The march past of the troops, 20 abreast at a modified goosestep, provided a first look at the Soviet marine infantry, a recently formed elite unit of troops dressed in black and black berets.

The military review was followed by floats symbolizing in the most earnest socialist realism every facet of Soviet life.

Soviet Nuclear Challenge Is Described By Three Experts

© New York Times Service

Washington — A group of academic experts told a congressional subcommittee Tuesday that the Soviet Union is making an effort to challenge the nuclear superiority of the United States, thus introducing a dangerous new turbulence into U.S.-Soviet relations.

Communist China, in contrast, was depicted as pursuing a basically cautious, "low risk" military approach toward the U.S. despite its development of a nuclear cabpability.

These assessments of Soviet and Chinese nuclear strategies were offered to a joint congressional atomic energy subcommittee by Dr. Philip E. Mosley, director of the European Institute at Columbia University; Dr. Thomas W. Wolfe, senior staff member of the Rand Corp. and a leading expert on Soviet military strategy, and Dr. Alice Langley Hsieh, a Rand Corp. staff member who is regarded as a leading analyst of Communist China's political and military policies.

The three experts testified in connection with the subcommittee's inquiry into the controversial question of how far the U.S. should go in deploying an anti-ballistic missile (ABM) defense system.

The administration recently authorized deployment of a "light" ABM system as a defense against possible attack by Communist China. But the issue being raised by the subcommittee is whether the changing strategic nuclear balance between the U.S. and the Soviet Union also dictates deployment of a much more expensive missile defense system against the Soviet Union.

The ABM systems, Wolfe said, "have probably become already too potent a symbolic element in the strategic equation to be readily discarded."

The Soviet leadership, Wolfe said, apparently is seeking to provide itself with "wider options for global intervention" by building up its offensive and defensive nuclear power and by extending the "reach" of its conventional military power through improvement of its maritime, air and logistic forces.

This growing soviet military strength, he said, could help to bring about "a significant transformation of the familiar situation of the last two decades in which the United States enjoyed not only marked strategic superiority over the Soviet Union, but also went virtually unchallenged in its capacity to project mobile military power into distant conflict situations around the globe."

In similar terms, Mosely predicted that as the military balance shifts, Soviet policy will be "tempted to undertake a more extensive, more acute and more dangerous range of risks in order to pursue its declared long-range ambition to reshape the world according to its own dogma."

Dr. Hsieh said that it seemed more likely that Communist China would attempt to develop a regional nuclear capability, built around medium-range ballistic missiles, rather than an intercontinental capability.

Services Set For 2 Victims Of Newman Grove Collision

Lincoln Star Special

Newman Grove — Funeral services for Mrs. J. P. (Louisa) Gabelman, 88, one of two victims of a car-truck crash near here Monday, will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Newman Grove.

Mrs. Gabelman and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Arnold F. Gabelman, 58, of Neligh, lost their lives when a car driven by the latter's husband was in collision with a truck at a county road intersection northwest of Newman Grove.

Gabelman was hospitalized at Neligh with injuries.

The deaths are the second and third in the Gabelman family within two days. Larry Benson, 26, of Newman Grove, grandson of Mrs. J. P. Gabelman, died Sunday at his home of a heart attack. Funeral services for young Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben C. Benson of Newman Grove, will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Shell Creek Lutheran Church near here.

Mrs. J. P. Gabelman's survivors include sons, Willard of Hillsboro, Ore., and Arnold F.; daughters, Mrs. Andrew (Leonara) Swartz and Mrs. Reuben C. (Opal) Benson, both of Newman Grove; and a sister, Mrs. Emma Dickinson of Virginia.

Meanwhile, services for Mrs. Arnold F. Gabelman are scheduled for 2 p.m. Friday at the Methodist Church in Neligh. She is survived by her husband; sons, Don of Neligh and Tom of Omaha; and five grandchildren.

Psychiatric Tests Planned For Mother

Hastings (UPI)—Psychiatric examinations were ordered Tuesday for the 27-year-old mother of two small Hastings children found strangled to death in the bedroom of their home late Monday afternoon.

The mother, Mrs. Doris Stromer, was taken to Mary Lanning Hospital Monday for treatment and later transferred to the Hastings State Hospital.

Mrs. Stromer's husband, Larry, returned home Monday afternoon to find his children strangled and his wife suffering from what authorities said were self-inflicted razor blade wounds.

The children, were Thomas, 7, and Terry, 4. One had been strangled with a belt and the other with a necktie.

Adams County Attorney William Connolly said Tuesday he had ordered the psychiatric tests and that any charges filed or action taken would depend on the outcome of these examinations. He indicated it might be one week before a determination may be made on what action if any could be taken.

Church Organist

Mrs. Stromer Tuesday was described by neighbors as "a wonderful mother."

Mrs. Stromer and her family were active church members and Mrs. Stromer served as an organist at St. Paul's Lutheran Church at Glenvil near here.

Connolly said the husband quoted Mrs. Stromer as saying, "Larry, I've done something awful to the children."

Local Head Start Plan For Omaha Tabled 2 Weeks

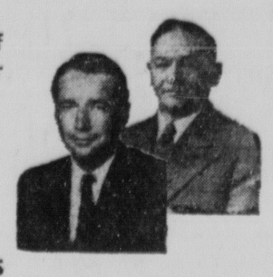

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Board of Education has tabled for two weeks a plan for a locally financed $150,000 Head Start program.

The federal program has been delayed because the Office of Economic Opportunity has refused to release the $569,000 in federal funds earmarked for the Omaha project.

The federal Head Start program is designed to support classes for 560 children aged 4 to 5 in 15 schools.

On The Wrong Horse

The Garden State Park race track, in an effort to boost interest in its two-year-old championship race this weekend, asks what do football star O. J. Simpson and the young race horse Broad Shadows have in common?

The answer, according to Garden State officials: "Both are California products, O. J. carrying the blue and white of UCLA, Broad Shadows carrying the blue and white of Mrs. Connie Ring of Beaumont, Calif."

It was a nice try, but we hope those working in the tack room are more knowledgeable than the publicity department when they arrange the colors for the Saturday race.

Mixing Sports Again

And mixing sports again, Nebraska fans will recall the 70-yard pass interception play that saw Colorado's Mike Veeder going for the TD after taking a lateral.

Colorado sports information director Fred Casotti says the play "looked like the finish of a six-mile race."

Oklahoma offensive guard Ed Lancaster claims he knows how fatal overconfidence can be as the Sooners prepare to play Iowa State this week.

"My dad's English," he points out. "My people fought in the War of the Roses. They were havin' a party one night. They thought they'd won. But the other side surprised 'em and wiped 'em out."

For a clincher, he grins, "If it hadn't been for that, I might have been a prince."

Not all football players of the married kind agree with that Indian tackle who reported to practice this fall 20 pounds down from his 250 normal reading and claimed he owed it all to his wife because she was a lousy cook.

Oklahoma State's Verne Miller, a newlywed himself who will be in Lincoln Saturday, retaliates: "I'll say this: He wasn't thinkin'!"

Quarterbacks Easy, Others Tough

Ask Denver Bronco defensive lineman Jerry Inman to name the most difficult quarterback in the AFL to tackle and you get this answer: "They're all easy to tackle. The problem is that group of people between you and the quarterback."

Oakland's Dan Connors credits the Raiders' success this season with the fact that the players are shaving more. "We've matured," he says. "We even grow beards if we don't shave."

A fan, answering a What's Wrong With the Bills column in the Buffalo Evening News, had this to say: "The problem is in the coach as I see it. Joe Collier is too busy pacing during the game."

Testing Meylan

This conversation reportedly took place between two Kansas players after their game with Nebraska:

First player—"Did you shake hands with Meylan after the game?"

Second player—"Yes."

First player—"But that's the only time you tested him, wasn't it?"

Massachusetts line coach George Karras has this solution for relieving tension in a game: He keeps two gilded marbles on his desk with these instructions—For severe tension caused by trailing in a game, roll gold marbles in palm for five minutes. Repeat every 10 minutes until you lose your marbles—or the game.

Cepeda National Loop MVP

. . . FIRST SENIOR CIRCUIT PLAYER SELECTED UNANIMOUSLY

New York (AP)—Orlando Cepeda, the slugging first baseman who led the National League in runs batted in and helped the St. Louis Cardinals romp to a pennant victory, became the first player Tuesday ever to win unanimous selection as the circuit's Most Valuable Player.

The Cards' star was the top choice for 1967 of all 20 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America who participated in the balloting.

Tim McCarver, St. Louis catcher, was second in the voting followed in order by Roberto Clemente, of Pittsburgh, Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs and Hank Aaron of Atlanta.

Mike McCormick of San Francisco, Lou Brock of St. Louis, Tony Perez of Cincinnati, Julian Javier, another Cardinal and Pete Rose of Cincinnati rounded out the first 10. McCormick was the only pitcher among the top 10 in the balloting.

Two writers from each NL city voted on a basis of 14 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third and down to 1 point for a 10th place vote.

Cepeda thus accumulated 280 points. McCarver drew 136 points and Clemente, the NL's MVP in 1966, had 129.

Cepeda, 30-year-old Puerto Rican, batted .325, hit 25 homers and collected a league-leading 111 RBI in 1967, his first full year with the Cards. He was acquired from San Francisco on May 8, 1966 for pitcher Ray Sadecki. He was on the disabled list for three months because of a knee injury in 1965. The past campaign was his 10th in the major leagues.

Four players have been unanimous MVP selections in the American Laague. They were Hank Greenberg of Detroit in 1935, Al Rosen of Cleveland in 1953, Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees in 1956 and Frank Robinson of Baltimore in 1966.

Only one player, though, even approached unanimity in the NL. He was Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants in 1936. The scheduled voting that year encompassed eight ballots. However, two among the eight writers did not vote and Hubbell was the choice of all six who did.

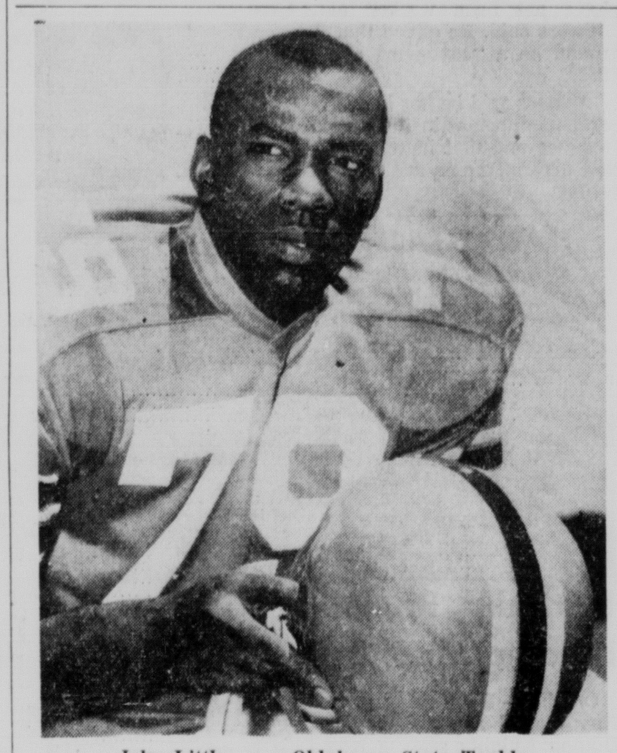

Cepeda and Clemente, the latter also a Puerto Rican, were the only players to be named on all 20 ballots this year. Clemente paced the circuit in batting with a .357 average, slammed 23 homers and had 110 RBI. McCarver, a fine defensive catcher, had a .295 batting mark with 14 home runs and 69 runs batted in.

This is the 10th time that a Cardinals' player has taken the MVP. Stan Musial won it in 1943, 1946 and 1948, Frank Frisch in 1931, Dizzy Dean in 1934, Joe Medwick in 1937, Mort Cooper in 1942, Marty Marion in 1944 and Ken Boyer in 1964. The award was originated in 1931.

John Little . . . Oklahoma State Tackle

'Big John' Finds Home In Line

. . . AS O-STATE TACKLE

Stillwater, Okla. — Big John Little, defensive tackle at Oklahoma State, has been surging to the fore in Cowboy football this autumn in a strange position.

Little was a back at Langston High in Hot Springs, Ark., and in freshman ball at OSU. Suddenly he's a defensive tackle and still learning more about playing the position.

It wasn't an immediate switch. Little was working at end in the pre-season drills of his sophomore year in 1966 and picked up an injury. He was held out after he recovered and worked with the scout team getting the varsity ready each week. He handled the job, end or tackle, and now he's the starting defensive tackle.

This sequence of events is mentioned by way of emphasizing that Little is in the habit of working where he's needed. As a youngster at Little Rock, while in the 10th grade, John got a job as a bus boy in a resort dining hall.

He preferred outdoor work but "there was good money in it and I needed to help out at home." So John hasn't always been in the position he might have preferred.

Born in Tullulah, La., John moved to Little Rock with his family when he was in grade school and they later moved to Hot Springs. He first became interested in football in the 10th grade. He was a 6-footer and 175 pounder then, as compared to his 6-3 and 205 pounds now. And he was a substitute back at Langston high. He had not played until Langston's homecoming game with Arkadelphia.

"We were on the move in a scoreless game and I was sent in for a special play. They gave me the ball and I scored," Little recalls vividly, "but it was only a 12-yard run." Langston won eventually 14-13 and John played a lot of halfback after that.

Little had three years at Langston high and the summer of his senior year he worked as a supervisor in a youth corps project at Hot Springs.

"I learned that I like working with boys," he says, "and decided to go to college with an idea of coaching sometime."

Little had overtures from a couple of northern schools and an Arkansas school when he got a scholarship offer from Oklahoma State. "My hat fit the peg here I figured."

As a freshman, John felt he played his best game as a back in the 28-28 tie with the Oklahoma freshmen that year. Of the recent Colorado game, Little says, "I know I felt if we could keep them from scoring that we could score, when the offense drove the first possession all the way, giving us defensive players seven minutes to sit there and watch the drive, I know it fired us up to hold them when it came our turn."

John's mother wasn't at all pleased when her strapping third son started playing football. "She was set against it, in fact. And she still hasn't seen a game," he says. "But she's changing her views and she'll be in the stadium before long I think."

Little's father is turning into quite a fan, however, and he was in Little Rock to see the 7-6 victory over Arkansas this autumn. He came to Parents' Day at OSU last year and found John discouraged. (That was Little's red-shirt year).

"He liked everything he saw, our quarters and the plans for the new dorm — the campus and the folks. He gave me a pretty good pep talk. Things have been going good ever since, so it must have been me."

Sooners' Liggins Chosen

By Associated Press

The Big Eight Lineman of the Week is Granville Liggins, Oklahoma's great middle guard who disrupted the offense all day and often forced Colorado quarterback Bob Anderson to run his option play off Liggins.

"I feel that Granville played the best game of his career against Colorado,' said coach Chuck Fairbanks after his team's 23-0 victory. "He made a great effort on each play, putting a terrific rush on their passer, stopping up the middle and catching three plays from behind near the sideline."

The cat-quick 219-pound senior from Tulsa was credited with 14 tackles, eight unassisted, partially blocked a punt which went only 13 yards and overpowered the Colorado center all day, causing botched handoffs.

Anderson had three passes intercepted and made only 81 yards running and passing combined, compared to just one interception all season and a 146.5 average going into the game.

"Liggins was on top of me quite a few times," Anderson said. "You don't really notice who's there, but several times I realized it was Liggins."

Liggins was chosen over Nebraska middle guard Wayne Meylan, who had another great day with 15 tackles, five behind the line. Maylan got the Husker nomination over tackle Jim McCord, who was outstanding on defense.

Kansas nominated guard Johnny Greene, whose superb blockon sweeps helped Bob Douglass gain 122 yards rushing.

Russ Washington played his top game of the season at defensive tackle for Missouri with key stops and consistent disruption of the OSU attack. K-State's nominee, tight end Art Strozier, had four catches for 100 yards, including a fantastic one-handed grab on a 67-yard touchdown. He eluded one man, hurled another and ran 45 yards.

Other nominees were defensive tackle John Little of OSU with 17 tackles, three behind the line; and defensive ends Mike Kirar of Iowa State and Mike Schnitker of Colorado, who stopped two OSU drives.

O-State QB Ron Johnson 3-Way Star

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

When Nebraska plays host to Oklahoma State Saturday at Memorial Stadium, the Huskers will be facing their first triple threat quarterback of the season.

OSU signal-caller Ronnie Johnson can be equally effective as a passer, runner and punter and has been a threat running and passing from punt formation.

"In their game against Colorado, Colorado was still in the game when Johnson fumbled a punt snapback and ran with it when he saw that Colorado wasn't rushing him," NU head coach Bob Devaney pointed out Tuesday.

Johnson passed from a punting situation against Missouri and has the longest punt in the Big Eight this season, having booted one more than 80 yards.

Johnson's abilities also make him dangerous to the opposition as a quick kicker.

"They'll probably put in something to keep us from going back to receive when we think they might quick kick," NU assistant John Melton, who scouted the Cowboys last week," notes.

Melton also warns that the Huskers will be facing top running backs when the Cowboys invade Lincoln.

"We haven't been Shotts and those Oklahoma runners yet, but I haven't seen people who are as good at reading holes as these Oklahoma State backs are," he points out.

The Huskers held some limited scrimmage drills Tuesday and Devaney was pleased with the physical condition of Dennis Richnafsky, split end who missed the Iowa State game with a foot injury.

"He seemed to be moving okay and he'll be ready to go Saturday," Devaney said.

Dana Stephenson, the sophomore defensive back who was limited to punting chores against Iowa State, will play the same role again this Saturday.

"He'll be able to punt, but he won't be ready to play for us on defense," Devaney observed. Stephenson is suffering from a bruised shoulder.

— PLAYER OF WEEK —

Hustle By Finkner Saves Whippet Win

By RICK AKIN
Prep Sports Writer

Minden's Mike Finkner was in the right place at the right time Friday night.

With victory a necessity to retain chances for the tie in the Southwest Conference, the Whippet twice came up with important plays to be named the Nebraska high school football Player of the Week.

Finkner received Steve Rogers' 57-yard scoring pass putting Minden in front and added three extra points.

But his most important play was in the closing minutes when, with Holdrege threatening, Finkner intercepted a pass in the end zone giving Minden time to freeze it until games' end and a 33-26 victory.

Other prep notables on the final weekend of regular season play:

Stan Lemke, Battle Creek — Line-busting running for four touchdowns and linebacking sewed up Mid-State Conference championship with 32-0 win over Humphrey St. Francis.

Dave Goeller, Pilger — Scored five touchdowns in 61-0 romp over Leigh.

Art Paulsen, Elkhorn Valley—Made 16 unassisted and seven assisted tackles in 12-8 decision over Niobrara.

Gene Harmon, Schuyler—Threw 31-yard touchdown pass to John Krivolavek with 14 seconds remaining for 13-7 victory over Crete.

Dan Wombacker, Shelby — Scored six touchdowns in 60-14 win against Humphrey.

Al Adams, Odell — also scored six touchdowns in 40-19 victory over Adams.

Henry Huber, Scottsbluff—Nicknamed Tre Hammer, ran for 105 yards, including a 51-yard touchdown run, in 34-7 victory over Alliance, giving Bearcats third undefeated season in history.

Jim Smidt, Trumbull—Garnered 213 yards during 38-0 triumph over Hardy.

Bruce Moats, Elm Creek — Scored winning touchdown and had most of yardage in that drive in 20-14 upset of Amherst, throwing Fort Kearney Conference into a three-way tie.

Bill Putman, Southeast — Blocked punt which Craig Stewart recovered in the end zone for a touchdown, setting Knights on their way to a 19-17 upset over Grand Island.

John E. Howell, Omaha Cathedral — Scored three touchdowns as Cathedral buried Columbus, 33-12.

Gary Alt, David City Aquinas—Had 142 yards rushing and scored two touchdowns in 21-0 win for prestige over Class A Omaha Rummel.

— LITTLE CHANGE SEEN —

Newcastle Takes No. 1 'D' Position

By RICK AKIN
Prep Sports Writer

Sparse activity means little alteration to the Class D and eight-man Nebraska Prep Ratings this week.

Newcastle, Pilger and Lawrence, winners over the weekend, each advance a peg to the Nos. 1, 2 and 3 in Class D positions with the fall of Amherst, No. 1 a week ago.

Amherst, promoted to the top for snuffing Sumner in a Fort Kearney headliner, lost to Elm Creek, 7-0, last week, throwing the conference into a three-way tie among the above mentioned.

Down the line, the second division suffered defeat but not damaging to prestige.

Thedford tumbled, 12-0, to Springview which held the No. 2 spot in the ratings until advancing to Class C when enrollment figures were announced.

Potter climbed back in with a 6-3 decision over Lyman and victory over Dix the week before. The re-enter in the sixth position one spot ahead of Lyman.

Loup City Central Catholic just got eight-man Ashton, 13-0.

Arcadia and Potter replace defeated Davenport and Elwood. Davenport lost to Exeter, 25-0 and Elwood suffered before North Platte St. Patrick, 48-19.

The only change in eight-man involves Platte Center which knocked out Rising City with an overwhelming victory.

Huskers' Davis Second In Big Eight Rushing

. . . JUST EIGHT YARDS BEHIND LEADER

Kansas City, Mo. — Nebraska's Dick Davis is an aspiring artist. On Saturdays, his practice of art is confined to that of becoming the "complete back," an art which might not be described today as modern.

A flying fireplug for the Big Red of the North, the quick-starting Davis has jumped into contention for the conference's rushing title, which is a race about as tangled as the league's chase for the team championship.

Davis has now pushed his seasonal ground total to a second-place 517, leaving him between Oklahoma's blasting brace at tailback, first-place Steve Owens (525), and third-place Ron Shotts (515). If Davis should win, he'd be the first Husker to do since Bobby Reynolds in 1950.

"The best combination of strength and evasiveness is owned by Dick Davis of Nebraska," says one Big Eight linebacker of the Husker fullback who spent last year dabbling in his art behind a couple of power-running masters, Harry Wilson and Pete Tatman.

After that apprenticeship, he has become as slick hitting a hole, applying a block, and grabbing a pass as he is when he slides up to his easel with a palate or pen in hand. Speculation hints that perhaps Davis is the most complete back in the Big Eight.

Twice this year he has been nominated for Big Eight back-of-the-week honors, basically because of his blocking. His quick bursts on the ground have netted him an average of nearly 4.5 yards each time.

OU Indians Top CIC Grid Stats

The Omaha University Indians have rolled to 400.4 yards a game, 86 yards ahead of their nearest rival, to lead the Central Intercollegiate Conference in total yardage, league statistics available Tuesday revealed.

Most of that yardage, 233.4 a game, has come through the air for another Omaha "first," while the Indians are second in rushing to Fort Hayes with 167.0. The Kansans have 178.0.

Omaha has some individual leaders, too, with Marlin Briscoe having 2,001 yards in total offense, 1,773 of that by passing. He has thrown 19 touchdown passes and completed 106 of 188. 56 per cent.

Four other Omaha players top the league in individual departments, with Pat Smagacz having a 7.1 yard-per-carry in rushing, Tom McKernan catching 28 passes for 696 yards, Ray Shaw punting for a 38.4 average and Billy Haas scoring 55 points.

Birds Heavy In Panhandle

Western Nebraska pheasant hunters led the way during the opening weekend of the state's 79-day ringneck season.

According to reports from Game Commission conservation officers, gunners in the Panhandle were taking many limits, while averaging two to three birds each. Top-notch duck hunting and final-day grouse shooting added spice to the bag. For example, on Sunday, a party of 25 Wyoming and Nebraska gunners took 100 pheasants, 11 grouse, and a duck. More than half the hunters who stopped at the Commission's voluntary check station in the Panhandle had limits.

A regional look at hunting activity shows:

PANHANDLE

The northern section is most productive for pheasants, but gunning is also good to the south and fair in the central area. Taking limits in the north were Clyde Phillips, Gale Sintek, and Bob George, all of Denver, Colo., and LeRoy Hines of Alliance. Best duck shooting will be found along the North Platte River and around lakes in the north. Garden County Refuge is holding 22,000 ducks, mostly mallards, and 1,000 geese. Field shooting near this and other refuge areas is consistently good. Jack Sonneberg of Alliance and Andy Anderson of Ogallala each took their limits of ducks and geese on November 4.

SAND HILLS

Top ringneck action is in the south, although birds can be taken on the entire perimeter of the hills. Birds are flushing wild in regions where cover is not too heavy. Successful hunters included three South Sioux City men who stopped at the voluntary check station in O'Neill en route home. They had bagged two white-tailed bucks, 26 grouse, and 4 pheasants.

NORTHEAST

Shooting success varies within region, with some areas fair to good and others down. Heavy cover in the form of weeds and unpicked corn is a problem for hunters, and any birds taken are the result of hard work. This area was hard-hit by bad weather early in the spring which hurt the pheasant populations. Still, success should improve as harvesting progresses and cold weather tends to bunch the birds up.

SOUTHEAST

Hunting is spotty, but most gunners report seeing birds. Cover is heavy. Less than half the crops are out, and kicking the ringnecks out is difficult. Many crippled birds are being lost, because of the heavy cover, and the use of dogs is recommended. Again, conditions will improve in the coming weeks as harvesting continues.

SOUTHWEST

There are good bird populations in nearly every county, with the western portion best. Hunters are seeing plenty of bird in spite of extensive cover. Harvesting is well behind last year, so success should improve considerably in a few weeks. There are ducks aplenty on hand, and geese have begun to arrive. Most of the reservoirs, including Harlan County, Enders, Swanson, and Lake McConaughy have heavy duck concentrations, and the rivers are also good bets.

Quail season opens in Nebraska Friday, November 10, and there will be fine shooting everywhere in the state. Bobwhite populations are the highest since the banner year of 1959. Daily bag limit is 6 with possession limit, 18. The second half of the split season on geese opens Saturday, November 11, with daily bag and possession limit of five.

Mustangs Face Money Difficulties

Omaha (UPI)—The Omaha Mustangs face a sizable deficit in the operations for the current season, vice president Bob Adwers announced Tuesday.

Adwers, who is also commissioner of the Professional Football League of America, said a crowd of 8,500 for the final game with Chicago here Nov. 18 would bring the Mustangs close to the break-even point financially for the year.

Adwers said a good crowd would help assure the future of the Mustangs, now at "the crossroads a" within sight of somethin, very good."

He said there is no question but that new financing will be needed in the future. He said this would come about in two ways—major league financial aid and sale of stock.

Details of the stock sale have not been worked out, Adwers said. He added that it would be a "controlled offering."

Adwers said he has had several meetings with the major leagues and that better working arrangements are in the offing.

'Cactus Jack' Garner, Twice FDR's VP, Dies

Uvalde, Tex. (AP) — John Nance Garner, who rose from humble origins in rural Texas to the nation's highest power councils, died quietly Tuesday. He was 98.

The former vice president, who was fond of referring to himself as a "little old Democrat," came within one year and two weeks of his goal of living to be 100.

Garner, widely known as "Cactus Jack," was vice president for the first two terms of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration. He broke with Roosevelt, who called him "Mr. Common Sense," over the third term issue and left Washington in 1941, vowing never to cross the Potomac River again. He never did.

Coronary Occlusion

Death came eight hours after a coronary occlusion, in the bedroom of a frame house built for servants. He had lived in it since turning his big brick home into a museum memorializing his wife, Ettie, who died 20 years ago.

People in this town 50 miles from the Rio Grande in southwest Texas had been preparing for an annual celebration, the birthday Nov. 22 of the man they called Uvalde's No. 1 citizen.

Born in a log cabin in Red River County, he studied for a year at Vanderbilt University — his ancestors were Tennesseeans — returned to Texas, ran for Clarksville city attorney and lost. He moved to Uvalde and won the county judgeship.

He started the first of his two terms in the Texas Legislature in 1898.

Cactus Bloom

And he earned his nickname by nominating the cactus bloom, not the bluebonnet, as the state flower.

He entered Congress in 1903 and stayed so popular in his district he was consistently re-elected without making a campaign speech for 25 years. He came to preside over both houses.

Former President Harry S. Truman called him "the spokesman for the rugged and practical individualism that played such an important role in the building and growth of the nation."

President Johnson also sent a statement of tribute.

City Foundation OKs Grant To Aid Persons Dislocated In NU Growth

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

A $5,000 grant has been approved by the Lincoln Foundation for a program to help Malone Center area residents dislocated by the University of Nebraska expansion, provided the city of Lincoln matches the funds.

Executive committee members Tuesday approved the grant, "not to exceed $5,000," for a one-year period ending Dec. 1, 1968, to finance the hiring of a housing coordinator and an assistant who will work under the Malone Center staff.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf stated Tuesday night that the "city will cooperate financially with the Lincoln Foundation proposal.

Exclusively

The decision about how much of the Planning Commission's budget item for relocation of residents affected by governmental projects to be used as matching funds will be made in the mayor's office, he explained.

Some $6,000 has been approved by the City Council for relocation assistance, but it is not designated for helping the Malone Center area exclusively, the mayor emphasized.

Foundation committee member Tom Pansing declared that the relocation problem brought on by the university's expansion eastward is "regarded as a city responsibility which we have agreed to assist."

Pansing indicated that the university is willing to cooperate with the proposed program but not financially.

Problems

An additional person hired by the Lincoln Action Program also will assist the housing coordinator in handling relocation problems.

A condition of the grant is the formation of a policy-making committee to work closely with staff members in matters of policy decisions, work responsibilities, staff performances, purposes and procedures.

The Lincoln Foundation, Malone Center, city government, Malone Neighborhood Council, University of Nebraska, Board of Realtors and low-income persons should be represented on the policy-making committee, John Goessman of the Lincoln Community Council recommended.

Refresher Course

In other action Tuesday executive committee members approved a $1,600 grant to the Nebraska Nurses Association to provide a pilot refresher course for inactive registered nurses in the city and county.

An application for $1,200 by the Boy Scouts for printing their publication was denied.

As a general principle, Harry Simon declared, the foundation does not make up deficiencies in budgets of agencies funded by the Community Chest.

Marland To File For Election To Railway Board

Robert (Bob) Marland, 49, of Grand Island announced Tuesday he will file for election to a full term on the Nebraska Railway Commission.

Marland, a former Hooker County school board president, was appointed to the commission last January by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann to fill the vacancy created by the election of Wayne R. Swanson to the state treasurer's post.

Marland represents the commission's fourth district.

Surveyor Moonbound

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 6 rocketed toward the moon Tuesday on a course so accurate scientists may delay a decision on whether to reaim it closer to a target almost dead center on the lunar disk.

The steering maneuver normally is made about 16 hours after launch but controllers at Jet Propulsion Laboratory said they might wait 24 hours longer to get more precise tracking data.

The 2,200-pound spacecraft, which will weigh 600 pounds after burn-out of a rocket designed to take it to a gentle landing, was scheduled to touch down about 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the Sinus Medii-Central Bay — an area so rugged the craft was given a 50-50 chance of remaining upright to televise close-ups of a potential astronaut landing site.

An "even-number jinx" haunted controllers. Surveyors 1, 3, and 5 soft-landed successfully. Surveyors 2 and 4 failed.

Cong Report Captive Dead From Malaria

Washington (AP)—The State Department said Tuesday attempts are being made for the return of the body of Gustav C. Hertz, a U.S. foreign aid official who died while being held by the Viet Cong.

Hertz's widow received word Monday night that he died Sept. 24 after a short illness and a severe attack of malaria. He had been a Viet Cong captive in South Vietnam since Feb. 2, 1965.

The message came from Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia. It was relayed through the Australian embassy since Cambodia does not have diplomatic relations with the United States.

Last June 15 the Viet Cong Liberation Radio said Hertz and three other Americans had been executed in reprisal for the death of two Communist terrorists.

Lines Between Speculation, Investment Less Clean Cut

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Mini Skirt Equivalent

The Wall Street equivalent of the mini skirt and the Hippie style of undisciplined love is the succession of 10 million share markets.

The in and out penchant of the "go go" performance mutual funds, which has been emulated by pension fund managers or professional supervisors of institutional portfolios, has swollen Stock Exchange activity and has swamped the clerical facilities of brokers.

William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Governing Board of the Federal Reserve System, likened the performance funds to the manipulative pools of the Nineteen Twenties. The outmoded pools represented collective speculative funds which were activated to bid up the price of a stock and then get help from outside traders who were attracted by the spectacle of rising prices.

Distinction Fades

As a result of the current vogue for performance funds, there has been a further breakdown of the distinction between speculation and investment.

Prior to 1927 when Edgar Lawrence Smith wrote "Common Stocks as a Long Term Investment," the difference between the two forms of money management — speculation and investment — was clean cut. Banks, trust companies and individual trustees were limited by state statutes to so-called legal investments, which consisted exclusively of fixed dollar obligations, such as high grade governmental and corporate bonds, on the one hand, and conservative mortgages, on the other.

The earlier objectives of investment were (1) to conserve safety of principal and (2) to get an income consistent with a high degree of security. In contradistinction, speculation in those days was the art of seeking to make a profit, or a capital gain, out of the buying low and selling high, or out of reversing the process through a short sale.

Smith's thesis rested on more than the historic record which showed that over the long run selective stock investment was more rewarding than bond commitments. This was based not only on a long term trend toward monetary inflation, but also on national economic expansion and improvement in the standard of living.

Mutual Funds

Pools have been cast into limbo by SEC rules, but under the Investment Act of 1940, mutual funds have governmental approval as means of collecting funds from many investors, and giving them the benefit of automatic diversification and continuous supervision by professional investment managers.

It has become customary to weigh performance of mutual funds in a time period against the behavior of the Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks, or the N.Y. Stock Exchange Index of some 1,300 stocks; or the Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 stocks.

But as a practical matter the masses who deal with mutual funds lack the capital to buy even a single share of each of the 500 in the Standard & Poor's index.

Big Play

Recently the volatile and dynamic mutual funds, with a policy of frequent in and out trading, have been getting the big play. It is important to probe the legitimacy of the premises on which they have operated. This affects not only the longer investment worth of their own units, but also of the habits of the whole investment community. For it should be borne in mind that the traditional Gresham's law that "bad money drives out good" tends to operate in this area.

The old line balanced mutual funds, which tempered the desire for gains with a goal of conserving principal, have been under pressure to become more active and to emulate the "go go" funds. Likewise, investment counsellors and pension fund managers have not been immune from the new financial psychology.

In spite of short term successes, there is no evidence that fund managers have developed a technique whereby they can expertly pick the tops and bottoms of short-term market movements.

On the contrary, a survey by Fortune shows that the high turnover of performance funds, which enriches brokers with commissions, didn't pay off. An analysis of six "go go" funds for the past two years indicates that they would have done better if the managers had "gone fishing" and left the portfolios intact. The study indicates that in the final quarter of each of the two years under survey, the stocks disposed of performed better than the replacement shares which were bought with the proceeds of such sales.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped self addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

New York Nixes New Constitution

Albany, N.Y. (AP) — Voters defeated a new state constitution which would have abolished a ban on public aid to parochial schools, on the basis of incomplete returns Tuesday night.

At the same time, Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's $2.5 billion transportation bond issue appeared headed for approval.

The constitution, worked out at a Democratic-dominated state convention at a cost of about $10 million, was supported by all the top Democrats, including Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Among the Republican leadership, only Gov. Rockefeller approved, and he did not campaign for it.

Tel Aviv, Israel (AP)—Seven Arab saboteurs were killed in an hour-long gun battle with Israeli security troopers in the rocky panhandle of the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River Tuesday, the Israeli army said.

A helicopter was called in to aid troopers in a chase through the rolling Hebron hills, other sources said.

There were no Israeli casualties, the army said.

Old Imperial Tokyo Hotel End Is Seen

New York Times Service

Tokyo — Tetsuzo Inumaru, president of the Imperial Hotel, announced Tuesday that he had reached a "hard decision" to demolish the old hotel to make way for a new 17-story building. The demolition work begins Dec. 1.

He said, however, that if any public or private organization filed a request with the hotel management for moving part of the building to another site, he would put off the demolition work on that part until Jan. 15.

The old Imperial Hotel was designed and built by the late American architect Frank Lloyd Wright in 1923. The three-story structure, that has been a landmark in Tokyo for 44 years, is considered one of the architect's masterpieces.

The basic factor which led the hotel managment to decide to pull down the old structure was "to ensure safety for its occupants and to prepare for the coming age of supersonic travel and the needs of tourism tomorrow," Inumaru said.

The old building has badly deteriorated by sinking ground. The hotel management has found it economically impractical to maintain.

The new 17-story hotel will open its doors in the spring of 1970 in time for the Japan world exposition.

Junk Mail List May Come From State

. . . AUTO REGISTRATION LISTS COMMONLY SOLD

New York (AP)—The sale of motor vehicle registration lists by the states supplies one of the nation's largest reservoirs of names for "junk" mailers, an Associated Press survey showed Tuesday.

One firm, R. L. Polk & Co. of Detroit, is practically the only customer for the lists, and it buys them for prices ranging from $70,000 in New York to $8 in West Virginia.

Some states apparently just give them away.

No Statements

Polk is a privately owned firm and doesn't make public financial statements. It won't say how much it pays for the lists, or how much it makes on them, but the survey showed it gets the bulk of 95 million names and addresses for not much more than $500,000.

Polk has several uses for the lists, but one is for resale to direct mail advertisers — the firms which send you the "come-on" flysheets and advertisements for products your auto registration indicates you might be interested in.

While the states are indirectly adding to the flood of "junk mail," the U.S. Post Office is contending that direct mailers aren't paying their own way, and is demanding a 32% increase in third class mail rates.

Controversy

The sale of official public records for commercial uses has created a controversy over invasion of privacy, resulting in court cases in New York and Connecticut.

Norman S. Chapin of Warehouse Point, Conn., who was angered by the amount of junk mail he received, won a preliminary round last May and is awaiting a full trial. Writer Corliss Lamont lost in a New York court but is appealing.

But most motor vehicle department officials interviewed in the survey considered the sale routine. They cited laws which make the records public and, in most cases, added that sale of the list to Polk gives the state an added source of revenue.

Polk is a 97-year-old firm which also publishes 1,400 city directories. "We do not invade anyone's privacy," said Alvin Kropf, Polk's senior vice president. "As business statisticians and publishers, we gather public information and refine and publish such facts and figures which are set out in open public records."

The AP survey found that Polk buys or trades for most of the 95 million names and addresses of auto registrants directly through the state capitols. The price apparently is based on what the particular state thinks its list is worth.

Polk even has the list of those places which don't sell them. These include Illinois, Alaska, South Dakota, Kentucky and Washington, D.C.

New York's $70,000 a year is the most Polk says for a single list. It pays California, which has the nation's biggest motor vehicle population, 47,000, Alabama $52,000, Michigan only $1,200. South Carolina charges $75, Wisconsin $120.

In Nebraska

In Nebraska, Polk pays a state clerk's salary to send it individual registrants, which it alphabetizes and then returns to Lincoln.

In New Jersey, Polk is the super sleuth which traces 400,000 parking scofflaws a year by looking up the owners of cars ticketed only by license plate. In return it gets the state's registration list free.

Several states think selling their lists is a public service. Minnesota sells its list to Polk and others up to 100 others, from a computer printout of 210,000 boat owners to lists of dentists.

Virginia sells its two million auto registrations to Polk for about $11,000. A. T. Beale, deputy motor vehicles commissioner, sees it as a safeguard to mailbox privacy.

"Actually," he said, "I believe the sale of our list reduces the amount of junk mail since the automotive industry is able to send mailers to specific customers it wants to reach."

Gestapo Chief

The West German government said Tuesday it has received information indicating that former Gestapo chief Heinrich Mueller is alive. He has long been regarded by German authorities as dead, but the death has never been verified.

Long Study Reopened By Senate

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Ethics Committee announced Tuesday it had reopened its investigation into charges that Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., used his position in an effort to keep Teamster President James R. Hoffa out of jail.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., told the Senate his panel would "fully consider" new allegations made against the 59-year-old Long by Life magazine.

Life, in its current issue, charged that the committee had "whitewashed" Long. It said the senator either did not tell the truth or "is a highly-paid legal advisor not only to the Teamsters but to operators doing business with the mob."

Long has branded the article as "a continuation of the vicious and malicious smear campaign of Life magazine against me based only on innuendos and insinuations."

Stennis, in a brief statement on the floor following a meeting of the committee, said the ethics panel "cannot definitely state now that there is any new and substantial evidence in the second article."

3% Of Lincoln Is Considered 'Poor Housing,' Jensen Says

Three per cent of Lincoln is considered "poor housing" according to an investigation undertaken by the Lincoln-Lancaster Board of Health, Department Director Lester M. Jensen said Tuesday evening at the second of four city government area meetings.

Research also showed that the disease rate and the infant death rate in these areas was two or three times higher than in other parts of the city, Jensen told the approximately 75 persons who atended the meeting in the Christ Methodist Church.

According to another city official, the minimum housing standards ordinance, unlike the 1956 housing standards, will include health ordinances. He said that the previous standards were building codes, which have only regulated construction since 1956.

The ordinance is designed to find both immediate substandard conditions and potential dangers which could become sub-standard, he said.

In answer to an inquiry, he said that no one could be forced to allow an investigator into his home, except in certain cases when a search warrant could be issued because of known and proven substandard conditions.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said that if the ordinance becomes law, there would be "firm, but fair, enforcement" by "trained, impartial inspectors."

He said that he urged acceptance of the ordinance because it was necessary for "the proper development" of Lincoln.

The next area meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Trinity Methodist Church at 1345 S. 16th St.

Health Board 'Lacks Power' To Enter, Inspect Buildings

At the present time, the City-County Health Department does not have the authority to enter a dwelling in order to determine the existence of health problems, according to a spokesman for the Lincoln-Lancaster County Board of Health at their monthly meeting Tuesday evening.

But board member Dr. E. L. Lampshire said that, under the proposed minimum housing standards code, enforcement officials would "have the assistance of the director of the City-County Health Department when necessary to make determinations of substandard health conditions."

The minimum housing standards code will be voted on in a special citywide election Nov. 14.

For the present, however, board officials said that the body has no authority to inspect a person's home on a complaint from a neighbor. The proposed housing code would make this possible through the use of a court order.

The board also accepted a recommendation to add $50 to the mileage of the milk inspectors in order to provide a constant variable when they drive over 2,500 miles per month.

Board officials stated that the nominal addition would not necessitate a revision of the budget, however, since the budget was set up at the beginning of the year to allow for minor changes.

This change will amount to $800 by the end of the fiscal year in July, 1968.

July, 1968, will also be the date for a new board member to fill the vacancy caused by the recent retirment of Hubert Buel. The board will appoint a person to fill the position on an interim basis only until the end of the fiscal year.

POLICE CHIEF'S NEPHEW HURT IN GUN MISHAP

Hastings (UPI)—The nephew of Hastings Police Chief George Maul was found with a bullet wound in his abdomen Tuesday afternoon beside his auto on a gravel road at the south edge of the city.

Authorities said passersby Michael Merrill and Dean Gunderson discovered Richard L. Haley, about 21. One of the two stayed with the wounded man while the other summoned help.

Investigators said Haley told them he was twirling a 22-caliber revolver on his finger when the weapon accidentally went off. The slug lodged in Haley's abdomen but hospital attendants said his condition seemed good.

Cause Of Blaze Striking Oxford Still Unknown

A representative of the state fire marshal's office said Tuesday a preliminary investigation has failed to acertain the cause of a $98,000 fire Oct. 28 which destroyed four business places in Oxford.

Until a cause is pinpointed the fire will be regarded as of "suspicious origin," Deputy State Fire Marshal Wallace M. Barnett said.

This is the procedure whenever the cause of a blaze has not been determined, he said. Until a cause is established, investigators do not discount the possibility of arson, electrical defects, discarded cigarette or any other possible cause he added.

The fire last month destroyed an appliance store, ready to wear shop, floral shop and garage.

It was the third major business fire to hit Oxford in the past quarter century.

Lincoln Woman Is Satisfactory After Two-Auto Wreck

A Lincoln woman, held overnight at a local hospital for injuries received in an automobile accident, was reported in "satisfactory" condition Tuesday, hospital officials said.

Mrs. Melvina E. Parker, 43, of 4901 Benton was injured in an accident at 56th and Adams Monday when a westbound car collided with the rear of the southbound car she was driving, police said.

A passenger in the Parker vehicle, Dorothy Cain, 50, of 6700 Havelock, suffered minor injuries in the mishap, but had been treated and released from the hospital Monday. The driver of the other car was uninjured, officials said.

West-Central In Omaha Offices

Omaha (UPI) — West Central Airlines has completed a move of its administration, central reservation, and dispatch offices from Lincoln to 3801 Harney St. here.

The airline said the move was made to help coordinate operations with the larger airlines that have officies in Omaha and to better accommodate the majority of West-Central's customers.

New Harbor Opened

Tehran, Iran (AP) — The Shah of Iran formally opened the new port of Bandar Abass in the Persian Gulf, the biggest deepwater harbor in the Middle East.

Investigation Continued In Fatal Cave-In

Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas said Tuesday a determination may be made Wednesday whether any charges will be filed in connection with the sewer ditch cave-in which killed one worker and injured two others.

Douglas said the State Labor Department officials are scheduled to furnish his office with a report of their investigation Wednesday.

Ben Zersen, the department's safety engineer, said the ditch "showed no signs of shoring and its' measured depth of 11 feet, 10 inches well exceeded the safety code requiring shoring on ditches exceeding four feet in depth for maximum protection of the workers."

Zersen identified the contractor on the ditching job as W. R. Lesoing, who had three men working on the project at the time of the mishap Monday evening.

Killed in the cave-in was Charles M. Byron Jr., a 37-year-old construction worker.

Labor Commissioner Thomas D. Doyle said he would announce a course of action based on Zersen's investigation Wednesday.

Douglas said there are two statutes under which he could possibly file charges if there is evidence of negligence.

One is a misdemeanor offense for violation of the Department of Labor's safety regulations which carries a fine of $50 to $1,000, he said.

He said another possibility is a manslaughter charge if there is evidence of an unlawful act without malice which caused the death of another.

Meanwhile, Zersen said the sewer ditch cave-in has been "red-tagged," which prohibits further work on the project until safety requirements are met.

Nebraska Intern Seriously Hurt In Louisiana Crash

New Orleans (AP) — Two New Orleans Charity Hospital interns were killed and another was injured seriously Tuesday in a one-car wreck.

The dead were identified as Dr. Donal Lucas of Metairie, La., and Dr. Robert Lee Suber of Pascagoula, Miss.

The injured man was identified as Dr. James Smith of West Point, Neb.

Their small car crashed into a utility pole on the ground level of the New Orleans Expressway.

Police See Connections In Gun Thefts

Lincoln police said Tuesday that two early morning gun thefts in the 1100 block on N. 55th could be the work of the same person.

The first theft was reported by Bruce F. Churchill of 1108 N. 55th, who told police that someone had taken an over-and-under rifle-shotgun from the cab of his pickup while it was parked in the driveway of his home, police said.

Churchill's neighbor, Earl J. Stein of 1160 N. 55th, told authorities that two shotguns had been removed from his pickup while it was parked in his driveway, police said.

Authorities said that the shotguns, valued at $175, were removed by someone prying open the left wing vent on Churchill's pickup and the right wing vent on Stein's.

"The method by which the burglar gained entry to the pickups and the locations of the pickups coupled with the stolen articles, lead us to believe that both thefts were the work of the same person," a police spokesman said.

Exemptions Approved

Egypt Said To Be Accepting LBJ's Five-Point Peace Plan

© New York Times Service

Cairo—The United Arab Republic was reported Tuesday to have decided to accept conditionally President Johnson's five-point formula for a Middle Eastern peace settlement.

The conditions of acceptance are that Israeli troops withdraw from Arab territory and that Arab Palestinian refugees be repatriated or compensated for the loss of their homes in what is now Israeli territory, well-informed diplomatic sources said.

The sources, who declined to be identified for publication, said Cairo had recently informed Washington that it was ready, with these two reservations, to accept Johnson's formula, which was announced June 19.

5 Points Listed

The five points are: the right of Middle East nations to exist, justice for refugees, freedom of innocent maritime passage, limits on the Middle East arms race and political independence and territorial integrity of all Middle East nations.

In a recent speech, Premier Levi Eshkol of Israel praised the President's peace plan as "realistic" and said he hoped the United Nations would support it.

The diplomatic sources also reported that the U.A.R. had recently told the United States it was ready to resume diplomatic relations with Washington, which were broken off during the June war.

Departure

If Cairo is in fact willing to accept the Johnson formula in its entirety, this constitutes a considerable departure from its previous position and has led Arab observers here to hope that a settlement with Israel will be possible.

King Hussein of Jordan has been indicating in speeches and private conversations in the United States that Cairo's position on some points of contention with Israel was more flexible than Egyptian officials had been saying in public.

How the U.A.R. has made its new position known to the United States was not disclosed and there was no official Egyptian confirmation of the sources' report.

Kentucky Picks GOP Governor

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — Louie B. Nunn, a south Kentucky lawyer, Tuesday was elected the first Republican governor of Kentucky in 24 years.

After a cliffhanging four hours, he surged steadily ahead of Democrat Henry Ward, a former highway commissioner who was endorsed by the state administration.

Nunn campaigned against President Johnson's policies as well as Ward's 30-year record in politics and government and the state regime.

U.N. Votes To Remain In S. Korea

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The 122-nation main political committee of the General Assembly voted Tuesday to keep U.N. forces in South Korea as requested by the Seoul government.

The same resolution affirmed the U.N. objective of unifying South Korea with the Red-ruled North and said U.N. troops in South Korea would be withdrawn when asked to leave by the Seoul government, "or whenever the conditions for a lasting settlement formulated by the General Assembly have been fulfilled."

The committee defeated two proposals calling for withdrawal of all foreign troops from South Korea and dissolving of UNCURK.

Streamlining Okayed

Washington (UPI) — The House passed legislation to streamline regulations concerning drugs frequently given to animals that produce meat or dairy products for human consumption. The measure was then sent to the Senate for consideration.

AUTO UNION, CHRYSLER TALK LATE INTO NIGHT

Detroit (AP) — With several thousand Chrysler workers already walking off the job, the United Auto Workers Union and Chrysler Corp. worked late into Tuesday night trying to reach agreement on a contract before a Wednesday midnight strike deadline.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther and UAW Chrysler Department Director Doug Fraser appeared generally optimistic.

They stepped into the room where newsmen were assembled, talked for a few minutes, made several jokes, and then returned to the bargaining rooms.

Before departing for the negotiating tables, where talks resumed Tuesday at 10 a.m., Fraser cracked, "You can get a nickel down here a lot easier than you can upstairs" in the bargining room.

About 8,000 of Chrysler's 103,000 UAW - represented workers left their jobs Tuesday or failed to report at their scheduled time. The stoppages came in Michigan, Missouri and Delaware.

$62 Hike OK'd In Payroll Taxes By Senate Panel

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee tentatively has voted a maximum $62 annual increase in payroll taxes to finance added Social Security benefits—rather than a $149 yearly boost it approved earlier, committee sources said Tuesday.

The sources said the panel approved increasing the Social Security payroll tax base to $8,000 starting Jan. 1 but the current 4.4% payroll tax rate would be maintained until 1969.

They said the withholding rate would go up then to 4.8% under the action tentatively approved by the committee.

Legislators Arrested

New Delhi, India (AP) — A member of parliament and two metropolitan councilors were among 30 demonstrators arrested near the parliament building. They were demanding a national ban on the slaughter of sacred cows.

Baltimore Landslide: D'Alesandro Is Mayor

Baltimore, Md. (AP) — Thomas J. D'Alesandro III, 38, a Democrat, following in the footsteps of his father, was elected mayor of Baltimore Tuesday in a landslide over his Republican opponent, Arthur W. Sherwood, 40.

Philadelphia Win To Demo Mayor

Philadelphia (AP) — Democratic Mayor James H. J. Tate won re-election Tuesday night over Republican Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter in the nation's fourth largest city on the basis of unofficial returns.

The Tate triumph retained control of City Hall for the Democrats in the closest election fight since 1935 when a Republican won by 45,000. The mayor's edge wasn't expected to be more than 25,000.

The 59-year-old Tate, a Catholic, had been tagged "a sure loser" by Democratic City Chairman Frank Smith in January, and he dumped the mayor in favor of former city controller Alexander Hemphill. Tate took on the challenge and beat Hemphill by 72,000 in the primary.

Specter, 37, had hoped to become the first Jewish mayor in Philadelphia history.

GOP Talking Of Tax Hike, Spending Cut

Washington (AP) — Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois disclosed Tuesday Republicans are discussing a proposal for combining a $4 billion tax increase with an equal cut in spending.

Dirksen told a news conference he had talked with some important Democrats about compromising President Johnson's proposed 10% income tax surcharge, which appears stalled in this session of Congress, with a spending reduction in order to get action before the lawmakers go home about Dec. 15.

Under the proposal, which he said he intends to lay before Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler later in the week, expenditure cuts would be effected by specifying specific budget items.
